Until Disarmament—de Gaulle

More A-Arms French Target

OTTAWA (CP) — Control of missiles and aircraft should be the first step towards nuclear and general disarmament, President Charles de Gaulle of France said Tuesday.

Following the highlight speech of his 36-hour state visit to Ottawa, crowded into a busy schedule of official visits and ceremonies, Gen. de Gaulle said at a press conference that France would go on building atomic weapons until there is general agreement on their control.

OPTIMISTIC

He was optimistic that some accord would be reached at next month's summit conference, though not all the world's problems would be solved. He also urged countries, which have means to organize an international co-operative, to develop a long-range attack on the problems of the underdeveloped countries.

The French president's day started with an hour-long private conference with Prime Minister Diefenbaker at Government House, followed by an hour's conference with the full Canadian cabinet on Parliament Hill.

LAID WREATH

He visited the Parliament buildings and the Peace Tower memorial chamber, and laid a wreath at the national war memorial. He called at city hall, attended the government luncheon at the Chateau Laurier hotel, where he spoke, and gave a dinner and reception Tuesday night at the French embassy.

Gen. and Mme. de Gaulle, with Foreign Minister Couve de Murville, leave Ottawa today for Quebec City. They will be in Montreal and Toronto Thursday and Friday before flying to Washington.

NO NOTES

Gen. de Gaulle delivered his after-luncheon speech without notes, following almost verbatim a prepared text distributed in advance to the press. Because of poor eyesight, he memorizes most of his speeches.

France's prime objective, he said, is peace.

"Of course we realize that to organize it, we must travel a long and difficult road."

COUNTRY SATISFIED

"My country is satisfied with the approaching meeting of the summit, the heads of governments who are supremely responsible, those who are commonly called the Big Four.

"France believes that there should first be introduced among these four states, and

School Trustees Complain About 'Copter Landings

School trustees in Greater Victoria last night complained demonstration landings by Okanagan helicopters at Macdonald Park earlier this month "dangered the lives" and caused distraction among pupils of nearby James Bay Elementary School. Chairman W. C. Gelling said he had been assured by city officials helicopter landings were "not a regular thing."

Frigid Welcome

Cool Nehru Chills Chou

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai Tuesday was greeted by a stern Jawaharlal Nehru, hostile demonstrations and a correct but cool welcome when he arrived to discuss disputed border questions.

The Chinese leader will be in India six days to discuss with the Indian prime minister their serious border quarrel. Nehru made a pointed reference in his welcoming speech to their strained relations.

About 100 demonstrators, members of the right wing Hindu Mahasabha party, tried to break through a police cordon and stage a protest at the presidential palace, where Chou is staying. They clashed with police, who drove them back.

As Chou stepped from his plane, Nehru appeared not to notice his outstretched hand and only shook it after photographers demanded it.

Only a few thousand persons gathered in groups along the route to the city and they were silent and undemonstrative.

Summit

Do Reds Want Pact?

LONDON (UPI) — Diplomatic dispatches report mounting indications in Moscow that Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev is anxious to reach some positive agreement with the Big Three western leaders at the summit conference in Paris next month.

Recent Soviet propaganda has led western observers in the Soviet capital to believe Khrushchev wants to avoid having the meeting labeled a failure. Khrushchev's own prestige was seen as heavily involved since he was the prime mover for the meeting of the heads of government of the Big Four.

In addition, Khrushchev was understood to want a second summit, which he apparently hoped to have in Moscow.

Flood Threat Ends on Red

WINNIPEG (CP)—Level of the Red River continued to decline here Tuesday, and with it the threat of serious flooding in the city.

Stay-Home Strike Flops

Britain Debates Satellite

LONDON (CP) — Whether Britain intends to shoot a satellite into orbit should be known within weeks.

Decision will come in a parliamentary announcement on the future, if any, of the Blue Streak missile—already discarded as a carrier of atomic warheads.

If the government decides to maintain the missile for research purposes, it will undoubtedly mean a satellite will eventually be launched. If it is cancelled outright, there will obviously be no independent British space program for a long time.

Korean Fires Still Smoke

U.S. REBUKES RHEE AS RIOTS GO ON

Martial Law Declared

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Defiant students and townspeople armed with guns, knives and clubs held mob control over northeastern Seoul today in the bloody, fiery Korean civilian revolt against alleged political corruption. Ruins of public buildings still smoked from mob-set fires.

President Syngman Rhee's government—now in its fourth four-year term — called troops into Seoul and proclaimed martial law here and in four other cities Tuesday night after clashes between police and 100,000 demonstrators challenging the result of recent elections. (See Page 10.)

STREETS CLEARED

The troops quickly cleared most streets in Seoul and other cities and restored an uneasy peace.

But in northeastern Seoul, hot-bed of resistance or Rhee's ruling liberal party, hundreds of demonstrators still roamed. Army tanks and truckloads of soldiers moved on that sector this morning.

Schoolboys were in the forefront of Tuesday's swirling battle where tear-gas fell thick and police rifles poured volley after volley into the ranks of the demonstrators.

The clashes, facing the tough-minded 85-year-old Rhee with his gravest crisis since the Korean war, were sparked by protests over alleged frauds and strongarm tactics in the March 15 presidential elections which Rhee's Liberal party won.

Censorship blanked out spaces in this morning's newspapers where casualty figures would have appeared.

Hanging Accident Kills Helpful Boy

By ERITH M. SMITH

His keen interest in Scouting, and his anxiety to help others with the same interests, led an Esquimalt boy indirectly to his death Monday afternoon.

Stephen Foster Pellow, 13, only son of CPO Francis A. and Mrs. Pellow, 537 Fraser, was found strangled in the Fraser Street Scout Hall, between 4 and 5 p.m., by his father and Scoutmaster David Kerridge.

Esquimalt police had no report to make. Chief Gilbert Stancombe could not be reached for comment. The boy's parents were too overcome to talk about it, and others with any direct knowledge of the death had been instructed to say nothing.

SKYLARKING

However, Reeve A. C. Wurtele, who had discussed the tragedy with Chief Stancombe, said death apparently was caused inadvertently while skylarking.

"The boy had been playing with some others, games in which a rope was involved," he said. "At the time of his death, however, he was alone, but it appears clear that skylarking led to his being strangled by the rope."

Stephen was an active member of 1st Esquimalt Boy Scout Troop. Taking advantage of Monday's semi-holiday, the troop planned a hike.

Mrs. E. Miller of Nanaimo, his grandmother, told the Colonist Stephen decided to remain behind in order to help another member of the troop with some proficiency qualifications.

WAS TYPICAL

"It was typical of him," she said. "He was always trying to help the others."

It is believed to have been some time after helping the other lad that Stephen met his death.

Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart said there would be no inquest and an inquiry was not quite completed. However, he said information pointed to accidental circumstances.

Stephen, born in Montreal, had lived in Esquimalt since infancy. He was a bright student in Grade 9 at Esquimalt Junior High School.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 3.30 p.m. at McCall's funeral home, with burial at Royal Oak. Rev. J. A Roberts will officiate.

Death Toll 123

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Christian Herter, in an unusual public rebuke, called on South Korea Tuesday to end what he called "repressive measures" against anti-government demonstrators.

"Unsuited to a free democracy," Herter said of the crackdown by South Korean troops and police.

Herter spoke out publicly after calling in South Korea's ambassador, Dr. You Chan Yang, to express the "profound and growing concern" of the U.S. government.

FIVE CITIES

Herter met with the ambassador in the wake of bloody riots in five Korean cities which had left at least 123 dead and more than 400 injured.

Herter warned that President Eisenhower may cancel his scheduled June 22 visit to South Korea unless the Syngman Rhee government halts its actions against political opposition.

BEATNIK-TYPE

Leaving Herter's office, Yang refused to acknowledge that his government was guilty of repressive measures.

Yang said Communist agents had incited high school and college students and a "beatnik-type mob" to riot. He said his government sought by non-violent methods to stop the rioting.

"But when the policemen were shot at what could they do but return the firing?" Yang asked.

City Mail Men May Join 24-Hour Work Stoppage

Victoria postal employees probably would go along with a 24-hour work stoppage which may be ordered by the national headquarters of the Canadian Postal Employees Association.

Bob Coey, president of the Victoria Postal Employees Association, said last night the final decision on such a move would be made by a membership meeting.

"But I assume that would be the case," he said.

Possibility of a work stoppage by the postal clerks was indicated in Ottawa yesterday by Dan Cross, national president of the postal employees.

Lead Fills Roadside Life UBC Professor Warns

Prof. Herry V. Warren yesterday tossed a bombshell into the laps of hundreds of public health workers in Victoria when he suggested many of today's illnesses may stem from a form of lead poisoning created indirectly by automobiles.

Mr. Warren, professor of geology at UBC, made the suggestion in a speech on the relationship between geology and health to 300 employees of the B.C. health department at a four-day annual training course at the Empress Hotel.

Studies last year showed trees and plants growing beside highways have an abnormally high lead content, he said, placing the blame on tetraethyl lead additives used in gasolines.

A tree growing beside the Malahat, at a spot where drivers have to use more gas to climb a hill, was found to contain 100 times the normal amount of lead, and similar amounts were found in trees growing within 100 yards of the road through Stanley Park in Vancouver, he said.

Vegetables, fruit and cereals were also found to be absorbing lead, and the North American continent stands a chance of suffering from it, he said.

"This seems to be a pretty serious thing. Between 100,000 and 150,000 tons of lead are used each year on the North American continent in making tetraethyl lead gas additive. You can take it from there."

Geologists found the abnormal existence of lead in plant life bordering highways, but it is up to medical specialists to study the effects of these deposits on humans and animals, he said.

"It would seem obvious that the lead content of various foods should be further investigated," Mr. Warren said.

Traffic Toll Shocks MPs

LONDON (Reuters) — Shocked MPs Tuesday discussed ways to prevent a repetition of Britain's record toll of Easter road accidents — including stiffer penalties, speed limits and inspection.

At least 75 were killed and 1,500 injured during the four-day weekend.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

IT will soon be legal for Canadian old age pensioners over 70 to go abroad as long as they like and still draw their pensions.

The government promised this in the Speech from the Throne in January. The promise was reported at that time in the Colonist.

Look for action on this measure after the Easter recess. National Health and Welfare Minister Monteith says that the government proposes to let Canadians over 70 living abroad receive their old age pensions "forever under certain conditions."

The "conditions" are yet to be announced.

* * *

Much credit for bringing about this measure should go to A. deB. McPhillips, Conservative MP for Victoria, who has placed a pensions resolution on the Commons order paper for the last three sessions.

This session he introduced a bill which would legalize the payment of pensions to Canadians abroad, with no strings attached.

The government chose to take over Mr. McPhillips' private member's bill as a government bill, thereby cinching its chances of passing.

"This measure was one of the promises I made, and I'm happy to be able to see that promise kept," Mr. McPhillips said in Victoria yesterday.

"I believe that Canadian citizens only will be able to qualify to receive the pension freely abroad.

"It is my understanding that provision will be made for Canadians already living abroad to receive the pension, so that they do not have to return and re-qualify."

* * *

In this column recently I drew attention to the promise which the government had made, to allow payment of pensions aboard. Some people got the idea, from what I wrote, that the measure had already become law.

I'm sorry if I put over that idea. I didn't mean to. That rebellious typewriter is playing tricks on me again.

However, the measure should be law soon. Several people have told me that it will be a good thing for them.

"My son has a small house waiting for me in California, as soon as the law comes in," one elderly man said.

Others are hoping to live with sons, daughters, brothers and sisters in Britain.

* * *

A few people grumble about the proposed new law. They talk about "exporting Canadians." I think they take a narrow and selfish view.

Old people should be allowed to go wherever they can live most happily and cheaply. In return for sending some of our pensioners abroad, we'll have elderly people from Britain and from foreign countries living here and drawing pensions.

Stop Fish Sell-Out Request to Herter

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Washington state legislators asked Secretary of State Christian Herter Tuesday to prevent what they called a sell-out of United States fishing interests at Geneva.

United States action at the 87-nation law of the seas conference was discussed in a joint letter to Herter by Washington Senator Warren G. Magnuson and Representative Thomas M. Pelly.

"We believe that chairman Arthur Dean and the United States delegation propose a policy of settlement at any price," they wrote.

They reaffirmed their opposition to a joint United States-Canadian proposal to extend the present three-mile seashore territorial limit to six miles, plus another six-mile exclusive fishing preserve after 10 years.

The two are especially concerned over the possibility that United States fishermen from the northwest will be banned from areas off Canada in which they claim they have historic fishing rights.

"If the United States delegation is successful in implementing such a sell-out agreement . . . it will force us to initiate legislative measures for the protection of the U.S. fishing industry and fishermen who depend upon it for their livelihood," they said.

"Very frankly, we assure you we will not be a party to this international giveaway. Certainly you can expect protective tariff retaliation and embargo efforts on our part."

They added that Canada's exports of gound (bottom) fish into this country "substantially exceed the amount harvested by our own fishermen."

Territorial Waters

Limit Hopes Fade

GENEVA (Reuters)—Hopes of establishing a universal limit for territorial waters was fading Tuesday at the 87-nation Law of Sea Conference.

Both morning and afternoon sessions were adjourned after the chairman announced he had no speakers on his list and no one came forward to speak.

MONTH-OLD

The month-old conference was scheduled to end Friday or Saturday after voting on four proposals — including a joint Canadian-American plan establishing territorial limits at six miles with an outer six-mile fishing zone.

Many countries up to now have accepted a three-mile limit but there has been no universal limit in international law.

WON'T SIGN

Many delegations favoring a 12-mile limit are saying openly that even if the conference adopts a formula of less than 12 miles—something that is by no means certain—they will not sign a convention for it.

Ex-Nazis 'Harm' Bonn

HALIFAX (CP) — Fritz Erler, a leading West German Socialist, said here that to allow former Nazis to play prominent roles in the German government "harms the interests of the nation."

Mr. Erler, deputy leader of the Social Democratic party, was "distressed" at the number of former Hitler supporters in Chancellor Adenauer's administration.

"I think we should not give the Communists such an easy propaganda victory," he said, "even though there are not a lot of ex-Nazis in power."

Mr. Erler, who was sentenced to 10 years at hard labor by the Nazis in 1939, was beginning a three-week lecture tour of Canada.

Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen

Ferry Return-Tickets Won't Be Any Cheaper

There will be no return-ticket fare reductions on the B.C. government ferries which will operate between Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen, an official of the ferry service said yesterday.

He said the service has submitted to the B.C. Toll Authority a proposed one-way fare schedule of $2 for a passenger and $5 for a car. If the toll authority approves the rates they will go to the cabinet for final authorization.

No return-passage tickets will be sold, the spokesman said, because of the time-consuming task of issuing refunds on unused portions.

The two new provincial ferries Mv Sidney and Tsawwassen are scheduled to go into service June 15 if terminals at each side of the 24-mile passage have been completed.

Mayor Percy Scurrah favors keeping the statue of Queen Elizabeth in Beacon Hill Park for the time being he said yesterday, but if it is damaged again he would move it.

Holed Ship Leaking Oil

Straw was used yesterday to soak up tons of heavy fuel oil leaking out of ruptured tanks of the Liberian freighter Ocean Ranger in Esquimalt graving dock. The vessel was holed when she ran aground on the west coast of Vancouver Island during the weekend but managed to free herself and make port under her own power.

King Bros., the ship's agent here, said tenders would be called for the repair job.

B.C. Ports' Exports Total $878,000,000

Record Set In 1959

A record $878,000,000 worth of goods were exported through B.C. ports last year, Trade Minister Robert Bonner said yesterday.

Highlights of preliminary returns on 1959 export volume through B.C. ports are:

- Value of exports last year was $67,000,000 above 1958 and $18,000,000 above the previous record year of 1957.
- Although the U.S. was as usual the biggest foreign buyer with imports worth $360,000,000 (up 8 per cent over 1958), Japan jumped into second place at $119,000,000 for a 27 per cent boost over the previous year and a 700 per cent increase since 1950.
- Russia moved into the list of the top 10 B.C. importers for the first time.
- South Africa more than doubled its 1958 imports through B.C. with $24,000,000 worth of goods.
- Leading exports and their dollar values for 1959 were wheat, $173,000,000; newsprint, $89,000,000; fir lumber, $51,000,000; aluminum, $50,000,000; barley, $41,000,000; hemlock lumber, $37,000,000; crude petroleum, $34,000,000; pulp products, $21,000,000; flax, $21,000,000; wheat flour, $18,000,000.

Canadian UN Aid No Drain

Although Canada is one of the leading contributors to United Nations technical assistance to less fortunate nations, the contribution isn't hurting much, Dr. Hugh Keenleyside said yesterday.

Dr. Keenleyside, former director-general of the UN technical assistance administration and now B.C. Hydro chairman, described to the Kiwanis Club the assistance program and the need for it.

DOING MORE

Canada, he said, is doing more than most countries in proportion to its population, "but our contribution is not doing us any great financial harm."

If each Canadian adult were to contribute the equivalent of a cocktail a month, he said, "the result would be that Canada could multiply its contribution 60 times."

THREE REASONS

Reasons for the assistance program are three, Dr. Keenleyside said:

If the people of the underdeveloped nations can be given at least some hope for their children, they will be less likely to start local conflicts which would endanger the peace of the world.

In an economic sense, the program is worth while; the advance of backward peoples would build up Canadian markets.

And finally, "above all else, it is the right thing to do."

Canada Visit Peking Next

Statesmen Mystify Monty —Especially on Red China

MONTREAL (CP)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery launched a Canadian tour Tuesday with a verbal swipe at the West for refusing to recognize Red China.

"I don't think we can ignore the largest nation in the world—it's not common sense," he said in an interview shortly after his arrival by air from London.

"A good deal that goes for statesmanship in the modern world appears very strange to me," said the former NATO commander and Allied leader in the Second World War.

Viscount Montgomery said he plans to go to Peking next month for talks with Mao Tse-tung, Chinese Communist party chief.

"It's a great thing to see these people and see what they think of what's going on. I don't believe you can solve the security problems of the world unless you talk to both sides."

A reporter drew Viscount Montgomery's attention to the statement by United States Gen. Mark Clark describing Field Marshal Earl Alexander as the greatest wartime commander.

"Good, that's good," said Viscount Montgomery.

Like Gen. Clark, Viscount Montgomery served under both Field Marshal Alexander and President Eisenhower.

He was asked how he rated them.

"I'm not going to play on that one," he replied.

Viscount Montgomery's visit is primarily to receive an honorary degree from the University of British Columbia and to attend centennial celebrations of the Queen's Own Rifles in Toronto April 30.

But he will also confer with Canadian political leaders, including Prime Minister Diefenbaker, and travel across much of the country.

He plans to travel by car and train as much as possible.

"I want to see the country and the people—the people particularly. I am more interested in people than in scenery."

Bitter Relations

Castro Parallels U.S. With Hitler, Franco

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro said Tuesday he wants better relations with the United States, but professed to find some similarity between U.S. policies and those of Hitler and Mussolini.

★ ★ ★

Castro's statements were made in an interview with correspondent Richard Bate of the Columbia Broadcasting System and published in the semi-official newspaper Revolucion.

Asked to comment on the doctrine that "anti-Communism is counter-revolutionary," Castro continued:

PERSECUTE FREE MEN

"I think that Hitler and Mussolini started to talk about Communism in order to persecute all free men, to persecute every type of justice. Remember Hitler and Mussolini. Remember Senor Franco (the Spanish dictator), that friend of Eisenhower.

"The only thing Franco, Hitler and Mussolini were accustomed to say was that they were enemies of Communism, and while talking of Communism they attempted to justify every sort of aggressions, and I think there exists today some similarity in the policy of the government of the United States of North America, which appears to have adopted a policy that in other times served to advance Fascism."

National Parley

Socreds Discussing Convention Plans

EDMONTON (CP) — National executive members of the Social Credit Association of Canada were meeting in Edmonton Tuesday to discuss plans for the party's forthcoming national convention.

Mr. Low said the meeting is discussing matters in connection with the national convention and also some details of national policy. There was a possibility of the meeting setting dates for the national convention.

The convention, to be held some time this year, will select a new national leader of the Social Credit party.

Cuban Army Bastion Hit by Guerrillas

HAVANA (UPI)—Insurgent troops believed led by ex-major Manuel Beaton attacked the Cuban army garrison at Palma Soriano yesterday in the boldest raid yet carried out by anti-Castro forces.

Reports from Oriente Province said the raiders fought army regulars for half an hour before being driven off. Government troops were reported to have captured some prisoners. There was no mention of casualties.

The attack was considered significant because it was directed against a city which houses the army provincial command and because the insurgents dared to come out of their Sierra Maestra hideouts despite the estimated 5,000 troops and workers' militia in the immediate area.

Canada Asks Red Proposal In Arms Talk

GENEVA (Reuters) — The West urged the Soviet bloc Tuesday to suggest adaptations or modifications of Western proposals for restricting space vehicles and rockets to peaceful purposes.

The plea was made by Canadian delegate Lt.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns as the 10-nation disarmament conference resumed after a four-day Easter recess.

Diplomatic observers said the Western delegates—from Britain, Canada, the United States, France and Italy—may have been given new instructions for the private negotiations.

But conference sources said the Soviet bloc's attitude had not changed and Tuesday's meeting failed to resolve the deadlock on procedure.

Hydro to Speak for Itself In Peace Power Talks

When and if the B.C. Power Commission ever decides to buy power from Peace River Power Development Co. it will do its own negotiating, a spokesman stated yesterday.

He denied a report in a Vancouver newspaper that the crown power agency was letting the privately-owned B.C. Electric do its negotiating with the Peace River company.

"Any negotiations for purchase of power on behalf of B.C. Hydro will be carried on entirely by B.C. Hydro," said the BCPC spokesman.

He termed the Vancouver report "completely without foundation."

Motor Vehicle Taxes

SOME interesting information about the relationship of the various taxes on motor vehicles to the cost of maintaining the highways on which they run is contained in the current issue of the Journal of the Canadian Tax Foundation. It points out that in no province of Canada does road-user tax revenue match expenditures on provincial highways. In British Columbia the total receipts from all such taxes—on gasoline, motor licences, vehicle registration and so forth—covered only 68 per cent of the outgo.

It is not suggested that road use taxes should be set to cover highway expenditures. Most provinces recognize that highways are for the benefit of all and not just of those who own and operate vehicles. If that were the case few of British Columbia's extremely costly developmental highways would have been built. In this province especially, new roads have been built and are now being built to open up country for settlement, for access to resources and to facilitate the establishment of industries.

It would be manifestly unfair to saddle the motoring public with the entire cost of all this. At 68 per cent their contribution could even be higher than it ought to be. This is a matter of provincial taxation policy, and each government has different views, with the result that average tax per vehicle per annum ranges between $79 and $130 (B.C. incidentally is next to the lowest, at $80).

Not discussed in the report, however, is the much more controversial question of provincial governments taxing vehicle owners for the privilege of running on municipal roads for which they have to pay through property taxes. To quote again the situation in B.C., it is estimated that 80 per cent of vehicle mileage in the province is travelled on municipal streets. Yet the provincial government takes for the provincial highways every cent of tax derived therefrom, returning to some of them a token grant as a contribution to the upkeep of those portions of highways running through municipal territory. It is true that there are other formulas for grants to local governments; but the fact remains that the user-pay principle applied to provincial highways is denied to the municipalities. There is inequity here which no government yet has attempted to remove.

Despoiling the Easter Scene

FOR a city of gardens, and presumed to be full of garden lovers, Victoria did not do itself credit over the Easter weekend. What with disfiguring the Queen's bust and the orgy of flower picking in Beacon Hill Park there is room for disquiet over the behavior of people in the mass. One had thought Victorians had a more mature sense of values.

The chipping of the statue was perhaps not unexpected in that previous controversy about it had created the kind of climate that invited vandalism. There had been apprehension it might not long stay undamaged. Yet it is a serious indictment of local habits that a public statue cannot be erected without vandalism. It would be a crowning demerit if the bust had to be removed for safety from public view.

As for the egg hunt which developed into a riot of flower destruction and bloom picking—theft would actually be a more correct term—one only hopes the adults concerned have had the grace to feel ashamed. Children scrambling eagerly for Easter eggs may be forgiven, but not grown-ups who must know perfectly well that the Beacon Hill daffodil beds are a civic amenity planted for the pleasure of park visitors.

Hindsight comes easy and obviously the Junior Chamber of Commerce did not anticipate the overwhelming numbers of children who took part in the egg hunt that overran and ruined Beacon Hill slopes. Even so it seems that supervision was inadequate. If this event is to be staged next year much better arrangements will have to be made.

One could not blame the parks board if it refused to allow the Easter hunt to be held again in the park. It might be better in fact if some new locale were chosen, some stretch of undeveloped land where neither children nor adults could do damage. Beacon Hill is too lovely a scene to be despoiled a second time in this deplorable fashion.

That Time Again

BY provincial proclamation summer time will come into effect again throughout British Columbia on Sunday. Clocks will be advanced an hour that standard time has not recorded, and the sun will still pursue its measured tread through the sky. Once more Canada arrives at this point without nation-wide concurrence, and with much confusion from the effects of local and regional differences. Train, air, bus, ship and other forms of transportation make their own choices of what time to follow, and the result often is a hodge-podge which residents learn to live with, and tourists accept with a sigh over tangled schedules.

Much of this annual inconvenience could be averted if the provinces agreed among themselves, through Ottawa, that Canada would make use of daylight saving time uniformly. The haphazard shuffle of provincial times—agreeing with or in conflict to five standard time zones across the country—leaves a great deal to be desired. Transcontinental service is harassed; time schedules have to be reprinted at extra cost; sun-time is laid aside, and in a short while this all has to be reversed. There are good arguments for daylight time, and Canada with an overwhelmingly urban population is not likely to discard it. The clarification that is needed could be achieved by national agreement—and then Canada would have one standard for its clocks throughout the period.

Interpreting the News

Trade Rivalry Feared

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

A EUROPEAN economic union entered into with high hopes in March, 1957, is causing worried thoughts among European statesmen, who fear it ultimately may split Western Europe into two sharply divided economic, political and even military camps.

With a deadline approaching on July 1, Western leaders are spending almost as much time on this problem as they are on preparations for the East-West summit conference in May.

It was the subject of worried cabinet meetings in Bonn and was a major topic for President de Gaulle and Prime Minister Macmillan during the former's current visit to London.

Concern also is felt in Washington, both for the possible effects on U.S. trade and the possibility that a plan to unite Europe may actually result in dividing it for decades to come.

* * *

At root of the concern is a recommendation by the executive commission of the six-nation European Common Market that international tariffs be cut 20 per cent on July 1, with corresponding protective barriers going up against non-member nations. Bitterly opposed are the nations of the rival European Free Trade Association.

The EFTA is strictly an economic grouping set up as a weapon against the Common Market. The Common Market is both political and economic, with an important objective the intertwining of the various economies in such a way as to make war among the member nations an impossibility. It particularly hoped to avoid any future conflict between France and Germany. It hoped to abolish all tariff and other barriers among the six in 12 to 15 years.

Until recently the prospect was for two sharply divided economic corps; in which, for example British automobiles shipped to West Germany would pay an eight per cent higher tariff than similar automobiles shipped from France or Italy.

Now new, serious efforts are being made at compromise and to prevent the erection of the new barriers which could divide Europe more surely than the best efforts of the Kremlin.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

IDLY turning a paper-back stand around merely to enjoy the titles—book titles can be a diverting study and in themselves they have, or have not, a very practical marketing value—I noticed a new edition of "Ben Hur." It was the accompanying caption, however, that was profound. It said this was an edition of that ancient classic "re-written in a modern readable version."

It is all of 80 years since General Lew Wallace wrote the story that recently brought eight, or was it nine, Oscars to the 1960 movie version, so I suppose that makes his writing old-fashioned. It is also so long since I read this tale of Roman days I do not recall the general's writing style. If it has had to be "improved" for modern consumption, however, one must assume it needs pepping up, as it were. At least I cannot fancy that the language the general employed is much different from that used today; in the sense of being misunderstood, that is.

* * *

I daresay it is more leisurely in detail, and that is counter to the impatient mood of today. This is an age of capsuled information and the more staccato style induces a distaste for protracted forms of literary expression. As with someone who spins his verbal anecdote to inordinate length so that one feels like saying "Get to the point," modern readers can't be bothered with long-winded descriptions of man, plot or event. Lew Wallace created a chariot race that still thrills its film viewers, but this is the jet age nevertheless. When one can fly to Europe and back in less time than it takes to read a bulky classic, tolerance of time is not popular.

At least I argue thus because this writer himself, albeit born in an era of slower tempo and with a bent for unhurried literary flavor, finds many a classic too lengthy for his liking. A Scott, a Drieser, a Dickens, for example, is apt to induce a touch of boredom because of sheer prolixity, yet at the back of his mind there is appreciation of the rich detail that flowed from the pens of old-time authors. The telling of a tale—in the hands of a master—can be equally as interesting as the tale itself.

There is a paradox about this because voluminous tomes still issue from the printing presses and indeed some modern best-sellers have not spared their words. In a different way they are as profuse as any classic, although not quite so diffuse perhaps. The vintage is more frothy, too, because of an obsession with what is termed "realism," as though reality had never graced an ancient script. What, for example, could be more real than a chariot race even if modern nuance has turned it into a chuck-wagon race?

It is rather a pity, nevertheless, that classics have to be rewritten to make them readable for us. One can appreciate better that films may "improve" a classic by suiting the pace to their medium and the modern mood—or transforming it in a manner that would turn the author in his grave—but the reading savor of a book can be lost by rewriting. After all, the story belonged to the author in the first place and not to the improver, and the rewrite man is not yet born who can duplicate the "feel" of the original creator. Some pundits try to do this by attributing all manner of meanings to a classical work, but they are really indulging in wild presumption.

So am I, no doubt, in venturing to comment on a "rewrite" that I didn't take off the book rack to read. And why did I not? Because its length intimidated me. I may have greyish hair but, you see, I am a creature of the jet age too.

Summit Maypole Game

West Mesmerized by Mr. K.

By PHILIP SYKES

THE Briefcase Brigade is circulating again. One month to the summit—and the leaders of the West are hurrying importantly around, conferring, answering questions with platitudes about unity, trailing a smokescreen of officialese.

Before the one-week encounter of the Big Four in Paris on May 14, Western leaders will have conferred three times: in Washington, Istanbul and Paris.

What will they accomplish? I predict that they will produce confusion. And little more. For the fact is that their soft platitudes about unity mask disunity, intrigue and failure of purpose. The platitudes cover an inner panic.

The men of the West are almost as afraid of exposing their deep and real differences within the camp as they are of dealing with the moves that will come from the foxy Khrushchev himself.

* * *

Why are they confused?

Because the U.S. is in election year, its political cross-currents driving diplomats to indulgence in public contradictions of one another on disarmament and other issues.

Because the U.S. and France are plagued by the lobbying of West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer, who wants no changes in central Europe and is prepared to do what he can to sabotage any agreement involving change.

Because—despite the war-grown hero worship demonstrated by Britons on Charles de Gaulle's visit to London—Britain and France are racing into knife-keen trade rivalry in the markets of Europe.

Because any practical step towards disarmament seems so perilous and irrevocable that military men are urging their governments not to take one.

Because de Gaulle is being secretive about his nuclear intentions.

More than any of these things, the confusion comes from Mr. Khrushchev. De Gaulle's recent talks with him—so hush-hush that the French president used an interpreter from his personal staff rather than the usual Foreign Service man—sent all kinds of rumors buzzing around the capitals of the West. Even now de Gaulle's allies know little of the flavor and content of the talks.

* * *

Bonn sources put it about that Mr. K. spent most of his time bragging to de Gaulle about a fantastic series of forthcoming Soviet space projects—including a space station, a rocket airliner and a mobile laboratory on the moon.

A usually reliable Paris informant writes that the 66-year-old Khrushchev confided that he plans to retire before long and has made arrangements to be succeeded by the collective rule of Mikoyan, Koslov and Ignatov.

The fact is that Western diplomats do not understand the man they will deal with in May. And some of them seem to be mesmerized into profitless crystal-ball gazing about the motives, personality and prospect future of this energetic man.

Prime Minister Macmillan is currently being advised by his ball-gazers that failure to deal successfully with Khrushchev will lead to dealings with much nastier spokesmen of Communism later on.

U.S. State Secretary Herter's grapevine hums with the opposite intelligence. His experts say that the recent dismissal of Mr. K.'s Communist Party protege, Kirichenko, and the ardor with which Mr. K. is propagating the idea of a disarmament deal with the West suggest that he is politically on the wane—and that a Russian interior ferment may produce successors to Khrushchev who will be more prepared for concessions to the West.

It seems an unlikely thesis. By the dialectic of the Russian system, absolute failure of Khrushchev's disarmament overtures would seem more likely to swing Russia back to toughness and uncompromising power play.

In the rigid old days of Stalin, our diplomats knew where they were. They would make a suggestion and Russia would say no.

In the discussion about underground nuclear tests, they made a suggestion and Russia said yes. They were flummoxed.

There was an element of risk in the suggestion they had made. And after Russia said yes they decided that, after all, it must be really too risky to chance. So they explained that they had not quite meant what they said. Crystal-gazing got them nowhere.

* * *

The summit meeting holds promise because . . .

Macmillan, who set off the summitry chain reaction on his first visit to Moscow, is convinced that Khrushchev wants and needs to reduce both nuclear and conventional armaments and that—after his propaganda flight with "complete and general disarmament"—he will concur in an arrangement that involves risks to both sides.

One concrete point emerging from the de Gaulle-Khrushchev encounter was that K. yielded no compromise on Berlin, but indicated he had no intention of pressing his point to an ultimate crisis.

Two French bombs and repeated rumors (probably Kremlin-inspired) of Chinese bombs-in-the-making are pressing the great powers almost against their will to some sort of agreement on banning tests and controlling that ban.

The case of the Austrian peace treaty shows that having once decided compromise is advantageous, Russia can make one and keep it.

Therefore, the approach to the summit should be on the basis of defining the points of agreement and disagreement. And not being mesmerized by the enigma of Mr. K.

Conniving Employers

Job-Quitting Cheaters

(From The Financial Post)

UNEMPLOYMENT insurance rolls contain thousands of "cheaters" who quit their jobs to draw benefits, especially seasonal benefits. Until these are exhausted and the cheater has to find another job, he turns down job offers because he is quite content with a painless $30-a-week supplement to what he earned earlier.

While the employee sometimes works the angles, some employers may be no less guilty of cheating the unemployment insurance fund.

* * *

Anyone who applies for an unemployment insurance cheque must explain why he left his job. The cheater who quit will say he was laid off, and so entitled to benefits.

By writing to the employer, the commission tries to verify this. But quite often, according to the commission, the employer will not reply and the commission must take the man's word and pay benefits.

There is speculation, too, that the employer sometimes "verifies" false statements because he wants to hire the man again next season. Again the cheater gets his money.

Last fall, a 30-per-cent increase in contribution rates restored the unemployment insurance fund to a precarious balance which years of milking had disturbed. One reason why UIC officials are afraid the fund may not stay in balance is that unemployment creating is on the upgrade:

"There are now so many ways of skinning the unemployment insurance cat that we can't keep up with them. We can't police the fund unless employers give us honest answers about layoffs. If further milking produces another increase in rates, some employers should blame themselves."

We pointed out in a recent article: some employers find, for example, that it is a cheap way out to "lay off" older employees instead of declaring that their working days are over and that the company has no intention of asking them to return.

The moral for business is obvious: cleaning up unemployment insurance abuses begins, like charity, at home.

Police Anonymity

(From The Winnipeg Free Press)

WINNIPEG'S senior police officers seem to be perturbed about the plan to identify some city cruiser cars by painting their front doors white. Only time will tell whether it's worthwhile, but no one should object to the test.

One thing is certain. A lot of people, who currently gamble that they won't be caught, will act more cautiously when they can actually see a police car. And it's just as important to prevent crime as it is to catch someone after an offence has been committed.

There's a further consolation for the police. Anyone who really wants to spot a police car can do so already. It's impossible to disguise the familiar black model with its long waving aerial, and the two ram-rod passengers in the front seat.

If the police must have anonymity in their unmarked cars, perhaps they should buy two-tone hardtops, and dress the constables in flashy sports clothes.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

A LADY of my acquaintance is very disturbed about the oil industry. She has been reading about the enormous quantities of crude oil that are being removed from the bowels of the earth all over the world. "The world spins, doesn't it?" she demands. "Well, how do we know that this crude oil isn't the lubrication the earth needs in order to spin? Here we are taking out of the world's gear box the oil it has to have. One of these days, we're going to start to hear some pretty queer squeaks from underneath our feet. A sort of grinding sound. And then we'll notice that things are heating up. In fact, last summer, during that hot spell, I imagined I could distinctly smell something overheated.

"Then the next thing, we'll notice the earth starting to seize up. It will sort of half-stop for a minute, and give a kind of grunt, like your engine, when you've run out of oil. And finally, it will seize up and stop spinning. And, boy, where will we be then?"

So I told her about the exploration of space, and how we were already busy looking for new world's out there.

"By the time this one seizes up," I reassured her, "we'll have found a nice new world. Don't you worry."

Letters to the Editor

No More Indignity

Those people who were so sure that Beacon Hill Park was the only place for the bust of the Queen must now be revising their idea. The only surprising thing is that it lasted intact for 23 days.

My suggestion is that a deep hole be dug and the bust carefully buried—deep enough to ensure it is not dug up.

Enough money has been spent on this sculpture already. Such things are soulless and belong to the 1700s and 1800s. People have no time now to stand and stare. Let us relegate the unfortunate bust to where it cannot be subjected to any more indignities.

Heartfelt Thanks

On behalf of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commercial and the Jaycee-Ettes, in conjunction with the Save the Children Fund, I would like to extend our heartfelt thanks to residents of Greater Victoria for their interest and kindness in supplying clothing for our recent Hong Kong refugee clothing drive.

The clothing now has arrived in Hong Kong and is being distributed by the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce. As a local contribution in this World Refugee Year, the collection of over three tons of clothing, with the necessary sorting, cleaning, repairing and packing—all accomplished in one week—was indeed a monumental task.

We would like to express our special thanks to the First Baptist Church, local press, radio and TV, Pacific Command RCN and to the many local merchants and dry cleaning establishments that assisted us with this project.

"Service to Humanity" is indeed "The Best Word of Life." (Excerpt from Jaycee Creed.)

More Atom Weapons

thereby between the two camps an easing of tensions. What must be avoided now is fruitless discussion of insoluble problems, such as, for instance, might arise over the problems of the German people."

CARRIERS FIRST

"What is at issue," he added, "is to make a beginning towards nuclear disarmament starting with missiles and aircraft, which are the atomic carriers, and over which mutual control is still possible at this time.

"According to France, there must be a beginning made for a basis of co-operation, to transcend political rivalries in the development of needy peoples.

"France believes that the future of peace—the future of life itself—depends on the whole of Europe and upon America.

SPRING-HEADS

"These are the spring-heads of modern civilization and possess most of the resources of the world.

"France believes that the existence of opposing systems should not prevent peaceful co-existence, presuming that the course of events does not narrow the gap. Failing that, nothing in the long run could save mankind."

DIRECT SUPPORT

Gen. de Gaulle ended with a declaration that in going to the summit conference, France hopes to have "the direct support of Canada, vigorous, worthy and able."

Gen. de Gaulle said at a press conference after his address that France regretted having to make atomic tests and weapons, and would stop as soon as other countries destroy their atomic arsenals.

STOP ALL TESTS

Canada's policy is to stop all tests. Asked how he could be in sympathy with such a policy, de Gaulle said he understood the reasons for the Canadian viewpoint. While following a different policy now, he hoped that the two policies could be reconciled.

"I continue to regret that the atom bomb appeared on the world scene," he said. "There is no criticism of the United States, but it would have been better if the war had ended without the bomb.

"Stability in France is on the way. I am happy about that.

"The role of Canada in international affairs is definitely increasing, and I am happy about that.

"So, in balance, I have one regret and two satisfactions."

Motel Sign Voted Down

Saanich council last night refused permission for San Sebastian Motel, 51 Gorge Road West, acting on behalf of 30 motor courts on the Gorge, to erect a 31½ by 13-foot sign on the roof of Bullock's store at the corner of Douglas and Boleskine.

Council said the sign could not be permitted under either existing or proposed building regulations.

Smiling de Gaulle Shakes Escort, Wins Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—President Charles de Gaulle of France honored Canada's dead of two world wars Tuesday while reaching out to the living with the "spirit and the heart" of his own land.

He walked among the people who came to see him, plunged into their midst in measured strides that shook him free of his escort, and was as aloof and remote as a doting grandfather.

MAGNIFICENT LESSON

The magnificent lesson in magnetism took place during the noon hour in Confederation Square. There the 69-year-old French leader had placed a wreath at Canada's national war memorial.

Gen. de Gaulle had seemed about ready to get back into the car that had brought him to the ceremonial area but instead marched across the square to the barriers holding back the crowds.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker and others were left in the lurch by the sudden move.

In seconds, the general was surrounded by children who had slipped under the barricade—a smiling, crane-like pied piper who stooped low to pat the children and stretched long to touch hands reaching out from far back in the crowd.

There were shouts of "Vive de Gaulle" and tears sparkled in some eyes in the happy hysteria of the impromptu act. Gen de Gaulle for his part seemed set on clasping hands with every person in the noon-time crowd of between 4,000 and 5,000.

STILL SORTING

While police were still sorting out the traffic jam already caused, the visiting leader cut across the square for an equally emotional getting-acquainted party along the western barrier before returning to his car.

Summit Views Aired

Ottawa Used as Sounding Board

OTTAWA (UPI)—General Charles de Gaulle has completed one of the politically most significant visits of foreign statesmen to Ottawa.

Not since the wartime Quebec conferences, when Churchill, Roosevelt and other allied leaders met in Canada, have topics of a global nature been as publicly discussed. The significant aspect of this visit, however, is that global problems rather than French-Canadian relations were discussed directly with Canada, while their echoes were aimed primarily at Washington, Moscow and London.

De Gaulle chose the occasion of a luncheon offered him by the Canadian government to suggest that the forthcoming summit conference stay away from the German problem.

Canadian support for this stand was voiced by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker. There was "general agreement," Diefenbaker said, that it would not be wise to discuss problems which could not now be solved.

Another question for summit discussion raised by de Gaulle and Diefenbaker concerned nuclear disarmament.

De Gaulle said France would welcome and he would "greet with joy" a decision to destroy all nuclear weapons.

He brought up a third point the need for "co-operation to transcend political rivalries in the development of needy people."

De Gaulle referred to the need for closer co-operation, particularly in Europe, when he said "the future of peace—and on this hinges survival—depends essentially upon the whole of Europe and upon America."

German Problem Out

OTTAWA (UPI)—Canada and France are in "general agreement" that it would not be desirable to discuss the German problem at the forthcoming summit conference, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said last night.

Diefenbaker, who left Government House after three "lengthy" talks with French President Charles de Gaulle, told newsmen he hoped the East-West summit talks would lead to a series of similar meetings.

Subsequent top-level talks, Diefenbaker said, would be able to deal with "all of the problems that remain to be settled and which were not possible to be settled in a period of eight days."

Multiple Poll Little Help In Burnaby

City Clerk M. F. Hunter received another example yesterday of the difference in voting turnout with single and multiple polling stations.

Burnaby reported that in 1958, a non-reeveship year, it had one polling station and 25.3 per cent of the eligible voters cast ballots. In 1959, a reeveship year when voting normally would be much heavier, it had 32 polling stations and 26.9 per cent turned out.

Eddy Paper Sweeps Ahead On Dull Day

MONTREAL (CP) — A bearish tendency set in at midday.

The downward slide was led by Aluminium with a loss of 1⅛ at 29½. Rolland A fell 1 at 31, Nova Scotia Bank declined 1 at 64, Dominion Stores dropped ⅝ at 50¼ and Steel of Canada slipped ⅜ at 75.

On the upward side, Eddy Paper shot ahead 6½ points to 62 while Eddy Paper A leaped 7 to 62. Canadian Ingersoll rose 2 at 40, a new high, and International Nickel increased 1 at 104½.

Traders Stay Idle

TORONTO (CP) — Traders shunned the stock market as trading dropped in all sections.

Canadian Food Producers A led industrials lower with a drop of a point at 6½, while Alberta Gas slipped ⅞ at 20¾ and both Fraser and Steel Company of Canada were off ⅝ at 26⅝ and 75. Dominion Stores and Moore Corporation each slipped ½ at 50½ and 40½, with Canada Packers B off ¾ at 44, with General Development and Imperial Bank off ¼ at 14¾ and 54¼.

Eddy Paper gained seven points at 62, with Eddy Paper up three points at 62, Stedman Brothers up 2¼ at 36¾, Bank of Montreal up 1¼ at 50¼ and Canadian Ingersoll ahead a point at 40.

Giant Yellowknife led mine losers, off ¼ at 11½, with Dome, Hudson Bay and Steep Rock all off ⅛ at 20, 44½ and 10. Mining Corporation of Canada gained ⅛ at 11⅛ and Quemont went ahead five cents at $9.60.

New York Setback

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market suffered its sharpest setback in nearly six weeks.

Blue chip industrials, leading steels, motors and scattered chemicals and electronics lost heavily under pressure after advancing sharply at the outset.

Selling when it occurred centred in the blue chips. The industrial stock average closed at 626.40 off 4.37. It was the widest loss since March 10.

Losses of 2¾ in International Paper and a point or more in Alcoa, American Telephone, Du Pont, General Motors and General Electric helped pull the average lower.

Steels ran into some late selling that brought losses of more than 1 in Universal-Cyclops and Lukens and ⅝ in Youngstown Sheet.

The motors featured losses of 2¼ in Ford and more than 1 each in General Motors, Studebaker-Packard and American Motors.

Electronics, recent heavy favorites, featured losses of more than 7 in Texas Instruments, nearly 4 in General Time and more than 2 in Ampex and RCA. Ampex topped the market in activity with 85,800 shares.

Oils Weaken

VANCOUVER — Except for a weakness in oils, changes were small. Charter dropped to 98 cents, Pacific Pete to $11, Vantor to 46 cents and Prosper to 15 cents. Peace River held firm at 40 cents. Mines were mixed with Bralorne at 5.26; Cons. Standard at 30 cents, Cowichan at 45 cents and Bethlehem at 68 cents.

MacMillan-Powell eased to $15⅞ and Trans-Canada to $20⅞.

Montreal Bonds

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal bond market was generally quiet and unchanged except for corporates which were stronger and up ¼ in some issues.

UN Chief, South Africa To Discuss Apartheid

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold says he will start talks with South African officials in London next month in connection with the security council's resolution against that country apartheid racial policies.

He also said he would visit South Africa next summer.

Banda Says in Toronto:

Glad Phillips Arrested, Shows What We Face

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Hastings Banda, an African nationalist leader, says reports on South Africa by Norman Phillips, foreign news editor of the Toronto Star, were accurate.

Mr. Phillips returned recently from South Africa after being jailed three days for filing a story displeasing to the government.

"I was very glad Mr. Phillips was arrested," Dr. Banda said in an interview. "I don't wish him any hardship but it will show the people of this country, the United States and Europe just what types we are dealing with in South Africa."

He said Mr. Phillips' stories on mistreatment of blacks were true and emphasized that it was time for Canada to take a stand on the South African situation.

Dr. Banda, leader of the Nyasaland independence movement, is here on a North American tour under auspices of the American Committee on Africa.

Employers Increase Pay

Africans See Better Deal

Quiet Gains Made Strike Fail

By KEN MacTAGGART

JOHANNESBURG (Special) —Belief that a better deal is coming for them in terms of wages and more lenient enforcement of control laws is believed to be responsible for the failure of yesterday's strike call by native organizations.

To a considerable extent, of course, the complete collapse of the no-work call by the African National Congress and the Pan-African Congress can be attributed to recent police action which has established a reign of terror among not only natives but also whites.

But a powerful factor has been added and that is the independent action of South African businessmen who have been shocked by a realization of the low wages, poor living standards and abject poverty of the people who form the bulk of their labor force.

QUIET MOVEMENT

As a result, there is a quiet movement to improve these conditions which has seen its first evidence in pay jumps.

Coupled with this is a realization among the natives that the bosses have (through their trade associations such as the Cape Chamber of Commerce, the wool board and similar bodies) been urging the government to temper its racial policies.

This meant that yesterday the workers showed their appreciation in anticipation of further benefits by staying on the job.

Numerous employers, it is reported here, have increased pay recently.

One industry is reported as studying a plan of advancing pay as productivity increases an incentive which did not exist for native labor previously.

Among the few liberals left after the recent arrests, and, to a big extent, also among people not previously interested in native welfare, belief continues that even this change is merely a palliative.

Failure to alter in any basic principle the apartheid policy of complete separation of whites and blacks remains as the inevitable rock upon which temporarily improved conditions will founder.

Nevertheless native hope is a heartening and surprising quality just as workers sang cheerily in the midst of a crisis that would dishearten any other race.

The first mental hospital in North America is believed one founded by Bishop St. Vallier at Quebec in 1714.

Allister Grosart left a Toronto ad agency to help lever the Conservatives into power, now works from an Ottawa house that once served as a bordello. How much power is wielded by this Irish journalist who studied the Bible in China? His complete story starts in the first of two fast-moving articles in this week's big Star Weekly.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

VANCOUVER CANUCKS, who often claim a lot more than they get but get enough to do well enough, have suggested Jack McCartan, star of the winning U.S. Olympic hockey team, could be their goalkeeper next season. It's not likely. If McCartan does turn pro and fails to make the New York Rangers, he'd be more valuable to an American club than to a Canadian team. . . . One also hears that veteran-centre Sid Finney may wind up with Edmonton Flyers next season. . . . Also making the rumor round is the report that the annual Empress Golf Tournament was held for the last time this year. . . . Belated congratulations to Jim Wright, Bob Collins and John Piper, who carried on with skip Larry Marshall bonspieling in Chilliwack and won the men's championship at the Victoria Curling Club. . . . Jack Seedhouse, getting an early start on the season during a recent trip to Salt Spring Island, boated four small-mouth black bass averaging more than three pounds out of St. Mary Lake. He used a Bomber plug. . . . Fred Madden, former manager of the Victoria Curling Club and more recently on the Memorial Arena staff, has accepted a job as rink manager at Chilliwack. . . . An interesting figure would be the amount which has been spent repairing those leaky pipes at Memorial Arena during the past few years. One source says it is in excess of $50,000, which would just about pay for the new floor which is so belatedly being installed. . . . And don't miss the Shrine Western Canada boxing championships on April 30 at the arena. This is undoubtedly the finest ring show presented here for many a year.

Whether or not Los Angeles, used to nothing but major league quality in sports, will support hockey at the Western Hockey League level is a moot question but a comment printed in the Los Angeles Times after the first game there between Vancouver Canucks and Victoria Cougars might be given some thought.

"Bill Nicholas, general-manager of the Coliseum and Sports Arena," the newspaper story said in part, "expressed himself as disappointed at the calibre of hockey produced by the two clubs."

Yes, Los Angeles may not be the pot of gold Jim Piggott thinks he'll find at the end of his rainbow.

Edmund Brown is the top politician of a state with two major league baseball clubs but the California governor proved to everyone last week that he isn't much of a fan.

Called on to speak at the dedication dinner for San Francisco's new Candlestick Park, Governor Brown looked pleasantly at the big crowd, smiled, opened his mouth, and then put his foot in it.

"I expect," he beamed in his best on-the-hustings manner, "that I will see all of you at the park next fall when the Giants and the Dodgers meet in the world series."

That's like a baseball fan saying he was going to vote the Nixon-Kennedy ticket in the presidential elections.

Horton Smith, perhaps golf's best in the mid-thirties, stands out in sports as a striking example of quiet courage.

Winner of the event in 1934 and again in 1936, Smith showed up at the Masters' golf tournament last month for the 24th time to keep intact his streak of having played in every Masters tournament. But, outside of a casual mention of his streak, he was lost in the shuffle when an eight prevented him from escaping the 36-hole cut.

That he was there at all is the amazing part of the story. He learned almost three years ago—and three years is almost all the time left in such cases—that he was suffering from the dread Hodgkins disease. One lung was removed about 18 months ago and the other is seriously infected but no one would suspect it as he carries on as pro at the Detroit Golf Club and keeps alive his attendance record at the Masters.

WESTERN HOCKEY LEAGUE clubs certainly haven't been making much out of the playdowns in the past two seasons. The player pool draws 50 per cent of proceeds from the minimum number of games it takes to decide each series, and there have been only three extra games in the eight separate series played in two seasons. . . . San Francisco's spanking-new Candlestick Park has 63 de luxe mezzanine boxes of eight seats each which retail for $4,000 a box for the season—about $6.50 per game per seat—but all of them have been sold. . . . According to a compilation made by Reader's Digest, 166 boxers have died as a result of ring injuries since Second World War. . . . Wrong information led to an erroneous statement regarding the Rounsfell Cup, awarded each year for the B.C. rugger championship. James Bay Athletic Association, Bert Buller informs, won the trophy three years in a row—in 1939 and 1940 and again in the first post-war competition. . . . A clipping showing a picture of a handsome young man named Steve Dunc, Jr., with lines stating that he is co-captain and a three-year letterman on the varsity baseball team at Eugene, Ore., and also a member of the basketball team makes one realize how time does fly. He is, of course, the son of Steve Dunc, the lanky and popular, and good, too, outfielder who played here during the war years and before. . . . Don't be too certain that Cleveland isn't going to get the best of the trade which brought them batting-champion Harvey Kuenn in exchange for home run-hitter Rocky Colavito. But Frankie Lane could rue the day he sent Herb Score to a pennant contender.

Misses Catch, Gets Bird

Cleveland fans hung out a banner to honor their old favorite, who was forced to show up yesterday in Detroit uniform after controversial trade but it didn't make any difference to ex-teammate Jim Piersall. The uninhibited Piersall gives Colavito donkey sign as he misses catch of Russ Nixon's off-the-fence double. But Colavito laughed last, Tigers beating old teammates, 4-2, in 15-inning thriller.—(AP Photofax.)

No Socky from Rocky But Tigers Still Win

Chicago White Sox, surprise 1959 champions, continued their habit of winning one-run games and New York Yankees, intent on a comeback, flashed their old power but main interest yesterday as the American League started a full schedule, was centred on Cleveland.

There, 52,756 fans, largest crowd of the day, came out to see what would happen with ex-Cleveland favorite, Rocky Colavito, playing for Detroit and Harvey Kuenn, league batting champion, playing for Cleveland.

And the noisy fans got their money's worth as general-manager Frank Lane got a bit of an edge in favor of the controversial trade although the Indians were beaten, 4-2, in a 15-inning thriller.

FOUR Ks

Colavito went hitless in six time at bat and struck out four times while Kuenn had two hits in seven trips for the Tigers.

But Lane didn't escape unscathed. Veteran Minnie Minoso, another favorite he traded away in the off-season, was a spectacular star in the 10-9 win the White Sox squeezed out over Kansas City Athletics.

Minoso, batting in six runs, broke the game up with a ninth-inning home run after hitting a grand-slam homer in the fourth. Largest opening-day crowd in Comiskey Park history—41,661 — cheered like mad for an old favorite.

Led by Roger Maris, an expensive acquisition from Kansas City, and Bill Skowron, their injury-prone first-baseman currently in the best of health, the Yankees pounded out 17 hits in knocking off the Red Sox, 8-4, before 32,747 Boston fans.

FOR DISTANCE

Maris had four hits, including two 400-foot home runs, and batted in four runs. And Skowron, a batting-championship threat if he could stay healthy, also came up with four hits. Sophomore Jim Coates, 6-1 last season, pitched the distance for the Yanks.

One of the nine hits off Coates was the second home run in two days for Ted Williams. It was the 494th of his career, putting him fourth on the all-time list of major league homer-hitters.

Back to Cleveland, it was a scoreless pitching battle between the Tigers' Frank Lary and the Indians' Gary Bell for 10 innings. Then pinch-hitter Neil Chrisley singled in two runs for the Tigers in the 11th and pinch-hitter Jim Piersall did the same for the Indians in their half of the 11th.

Al Kaline finally won it for Detroit in the 15th with another two-run single.

Old standby Gene Woodling doubled in the winning run as Baltimore Orioles opened their season before 32,747 hometown fans with a 3-2 win over Washington Senators.

In the National League, Los Angeles Dodgers broke a tie for the lead by shutting out the San Francisco Giants, 4-0, in San Francisco.

The Giants got fine pitching from Billy O'Dell but they gave their southpaw acquisition from the American League no batting support and some shoddy defensive play.

It was 1-0 for the Dodgers starting the ninth inning with O'Dell hooked up with Johnny Podres in a fine mound battle, and only because right-fielder Willie Kirkland overran a single to play it into a triple. It resulted in the winning run when Tom Davis followed with a sacrifice fly. The Dodgers got three more runs in the ninth after O'Dell was taken out for a pinch-hitter.

St. Louis Cardinals finally won after losing their first five, besting Chicago Cubs, 5-2, behind Wilmer Mizell's fine pitching.

Cleveland Fan Dry, Suspicious

CLEVELAND—Out on St. Clair Avenue yesterday they hanged general-manager Frank Lane in effigy and laid out a likeness of manager Joe Gordon on a slab.

This was the way the habitues of Pointview Grill showed their feelings about the Colavito-Kuenn trade but it was a man in Pat Joyce's tavern who best expressed it all.

Upset because there was no beer on sale at Cleveland Stadium for the American League opener—the licence won't be available until April 28—he moaned disgustedly:

"No Rocky, no Score, no beer, no nothin'. This guy Lane probably traded the beer licence."

Wolves Add Point From Lucky Draw

LONDON (AP) — Wolverhampton Wanderers grabbed a luck, scoreless tie against Nottingham Forest Tuesday and moved into a three-point lead at the top of the English Soccer League First Division as the season neared its pay-off stage.

Jim Iley, Nottingham halfback, let Wolves off the hook. He hit the crossbar with a penalty kick and the Wolves scrambled the ball away.

Now Wolves have 52 points —three more than second-place Tottenham Hotspur. Both teams have two more games to play.

Burnley, third place also with 49 points, has four remaining games. Burnley is third because of an inferior goal average to Tottenham.

The Tottenham-Wolverhampton match at Wolverhampton's Molineux ground Saturday could be the one to decide the championship.

Intermediate Hockey Won by Fort Frances

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP) —Fort Frances Canadians captured the Western Canada intermediate hockey championship Tuesday night with a 5-2 victory over Nanaimo Labatts before a crowd of about 1,800.

Canadians, finalists last year, won the best-of-seven series four games to one. They took three straight, 4-1, 7-5 and 4-0, before dropping the fourth contest, 4-1, here Monday night.

It was the first intermediate championship for the Canadians, who were beaten in the 1959 final by Red Deer (Alta.) Rustlers. Some of this year's Canadians were members of the club which won the Allan Cup in 1952.

Five players shared the scoring for Fort Frances, with singletons going to Ed Kliner, Sambo Fedoruck, playing coach Frank Eisenzoph, Gerry (Pee Wee) Melynchuk and Bill Kawulia. Bud Dumont scored both goals for Nanaimo.

Both goalies turned in solid performances, with Canadians' Harry Barefoot turning aside 20 shots while Nanaimo's Bob Lumley blocked 33.

Speaking Briefly

Unhurried Finnish Farmer Had Time for the Milking

A farmer from Finland, running like a scared spring calf, won the 64th annual Boston marathon in near record time yesterday.

Paavo (of course) Kotila, 32, passed the finish line strong and smiling just two hours, 20 minutes and 54 seconds after he had started the 26 miles, 385-yard run.

His time was but 49 seconds off the record established in 1957 by Johnny Kelley, and everyone agreed that Kotila would have broken it had he been pushed. He was far in front at the finish, two United States entrants, Gordie McKenzie of New York and Jimmy Green of Boston, finishing second and third, respectively, but never close enough during the last six miles to have a chance unless Kotila collapsed.

With the lack of competition making it a dull race, Chris McKenzie, an English girl and a runner in her own right, livened things up at one stage. She threw off her spiked heels and dashed along after her husband yelling encouragement almost in tears.

Billy Smith of Hamilton did the best among the Canadian entrants, placing 11th but almost 14 minutes behind the winner.

LORNE MAIN, former Vancouver ace, was named captain of Canada's Davis Cup tennis team yesterday, for the third time in a row. Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Don Fontana of Toronto, Val Harit of Montreal and southpaw Francois Godbout of Waterloo, Que., were named as playing members of the team . . . a small private plane taking Bob Feller to a speaking engagement crash-landed at a Chicago airfield yesterday, but the former major-league pitching star was unhurt . . . Chicago White Sox yesterday lopped four players off their roster. Infielder Chico Carresquel was given his release and outfielder Harry Simpson, catcher Camilo Carreon and pitcher Rodolfo Arias were sent to San Diego Padres of the Coast league . . . Calgary Stampeders have signed Earl Lunsford, their hard-hitting fullback, for another WIFU season . . . Frank Bathgate of Chatham Maroons, Eastern Allan Cup finalists, has been suspended for one game for hitting Gilles Lacelle of Hull with his stick during the Eastern final.

Lassies Label Cerutty Loony

By J. C. Graham

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — Famous Australian track coach Perty Cerutty has raised a storm here by his claim that there is no place for women in the hard sphere of Olympic Games contests.

Sport for women, he says, should be conducted as it was in the Victorian age.

Cerutty, controversial coach of many world record breakers, has extreme ideas of training for athletes. He teaches them to think of themselves in jungle conditions and to compete, fangs bared, every faculty strained in a fight for survival.

He is credited with producing such miracle racers as Herb Elliott, who ran the mile in three minutes, 54.5 seconds.

STAY AWAY

But he warns women away from his training camp. He says the regime he demands would mean their surrendering femininity and becoming masculine.

"Having women running, jumping and throwing was all right when sport was truly amateur and largely the province of schoolgirls," Cerutty says. "It was the same with women in tennis in Queen Victoria's day. They weren't taken seriously and nobody minded.

"But sport today is on new levels. Men train and condition themselves in strength and ferocity. All these things are detrimental to women. They can't hope to keep up without surrendering their sex."

Distaff athletes in Australia and New Zealand challenge Cerutty's claim. Some agree women should set a limit to their effort, but others dismiss Cerutty's theories completely.

MUSCLE AND GLAMOR

New Zealand track and field administrators and coaches point out that two of the greatest Australian women runners, who have just been touring New Zealand, are particularly feminine and glamorous.

They are Betty Cuthbert, triple Olympic gold medal winner, and Mrs. Marlene Mathews-Willard, multiple breaker of world sprint records.

Neither is impressed by Cerutty's warnings. Said Betty Cuthbert:

"Mr. Cerutty is being old-fashioned. Times have changed since girls were barred from doing anything. I think he just hasn't got used to the idea."

Mrs. Mathews-Willard declared:

"I don't know what Cerutty has against us. Just see how many women athletes are married—and they certainly are feminine. He must be a woman hater."

This charge 65-year-old Cerutty indignantly denies. "I'm no woman hater, I love 'em," he says. "But they must be womanly. I've never wanted to cuddle a weight-lifting amazon yet."

For the first time, the latter stages of the Vancouver Island match play championship are being dominated by professionals. The chances, numerically, are now three to one, that a professional will win the title, thus emulating the feat of Laurie Carroll in 1958.

Laurie Kerr, the Island's most consistent amateur over the past few years remains a very solid hope for the great unpaids, and his chances must be rated at least as good as any of the three pros, Donaldson, MacLeod and Carroll.

Indeed, with the rota now changing to his own Colwood Club, Kerr must be rated to have a favorite's chance against Donaldson in Sunday's semi-finals.

The fact that play is over 36 holes is another factor in Kerr's favor, for Donaldson is still troubled with a back ailment that causes him to tire towards the end of even 18 holes of golf.

Donaldson, however, like Kerr is a top ranking long iron player, and Colwood is a course to bring out the best in him.

The all-pro battle in the other semi-final between Ron MacLeod and Laurie Carroll brings together two of the most colorful golfers in the district.

The pair have not yet met in match play competition, but in the qualifying round at Colwood, MacLeod shot 74 with a triple bogey at the 13th, while Carroll qualified more dangerously with 77. On the other hand MacLeod was beaten in the final at Colwood a year ago by Bill Wakeham, while Carroll's great length makes Colwood one of his happy hunting grounds always providing he avoids the hook on going out for the big one. At Colwood that can be fatal.

It could be an all-Laurie final.

YOUNGSTERS SHINE: Doug Fosbrooke, the young Victoria golfer who just missed a finalist's place in the Empress by a shanked shot at the crucial moment, is trying to make amends in the handicap section of the Island open. In one of the two semi-finals he meets Walt Spaven, an experienced campaigner from Cedar Hill.

A 15-year-old, Vic Derman, is in the other semi-final against Fred Groome. Both are members of the Gorge Vale Club.

Young Vic is a son of the Victoria District Committee secretary, Leo Derman, and he has a chance to emulate the feat of young Dick Munn who two years ago won the handicap section in his 15th year.

KNOW THE RULES: As over 550 Victoria boys and girls are now taking golf lessons for the first time, through the BCGA junior development program, the time may be apt to say that golf is not merely a matter of hitting the ball, but is a tightly-organized sport with closely-defined rules and a high standard of etiquette on the course.

As some of the youngsters now taking lessons may want to join one or other of the local clubs, the importance of knowing the rules and etiquette will be realized if they are going to make themselves acceptable to the other players in the club.

The United States Golf Association, in a junior golf program brochure, makes these valuable points in a discussion of the rules.

"There is only one code of rules governing golf wherever it is played.

"The rules are the result of generations of golf experience and are made to insure fair play; a knowledge of them will help the player.

"Unless the game is played by the rules it ceases to be golf.

"The two basic principles of the game are: Play the ball as it lies and play the course as it is found.

It adds, however, that while formerly the rules gave the player relief from very few situations they now give relief from many things; some of the relief is free and some entails a penalty.

"Situations from which a player may have relief, such as a ball lost, out of bounds or unplayable, in a water hazard, in ground under repair and so forth should be discussed as to the proper procedure.

"Attention should also be paid to the definitions and to the most common violations.

These are listed as—seeking advice, changing the ball on the green, and improving the line of putt.

Important point for youngsters to know is that divots should be replaced, always, footprints should be smoothed over in bunkers, and ball marks repaired on the greens.

Easter Results

Mrs. D. Naysmith and Mrs. A. DeGirolamo, carding a 76, won low gross honors in the Vancouver Island ladies' four-ball, best-ball golf tournament.

Low net (70) was won by Mrs. D. Jefferson and Mrs. E. Dye. Mrs. F. Groome and Mrs. M. Warawa had the second low net—73—while Mrs S. Paterson and Mrs. B. Thirlwell had the runner-up score in the gross competition.

Fullmer Picked to Retain Title

By JACK HAND

BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP) — Sturdy Gene Fullmer rules a solid favorite over Joey Giardello for the second defence tonight of his world middleweight title, National Boxing Association version. The fight will be held in the unusual surroundings of the Montana State College fieldhouse.

The snowcapped rockies and the unique campus setting added color to Montana's first championship fight in 37 years.

Co-promoters Fran Haun and Norman Rothschild reported an advance sale of 10,000 tickets and receipts of $90,000. They expect the box-office take for the 15-round match to top $100,000 with about 12,000 spectators.

The beautiful 13,200-capacity Fieldhouse is scaled for $125,000 at $20 tops.

The Fullmer-Giardello fight may be seen tonight on Channel 4 starting at 7, Victoria time.

Fullmer and Giardello already are assured of a fine payday. The champ gets all of the $100,000 paid for the television rights. Giardello received a flat $25,000 guarantee plus $5,000 for expenses.

Fullmer, a 13-to-5 favorite in this area, expects a tough fight but is confident of victory. Asked if he hopes for a knockout, Fullmer said, "I get paid for 15 rounds. I figure any round I can cut off is a bonus to me personally."

The night he won the title by knocking out Carmen Basilio last September, Fullmer surprised by boxing in the early rounds. Normally, he bulls in and pounds away until he can wear down an opponent. His record for 55 fights is 51-4 with 22 knockouts. Robinson, in 1957, was the only man to knock him out.

Giardello, 29, a top contender for many years, slipped a bit in 1959 when he was beaten by Tiger Jones and Dick Tiger. His record, dating back to 1948, is 83-19-5 with one no-decision fight. He has 30 knockouts and was stopped three times.

If Giardello wins, there is a rematch contract for another bout with Fullmer at Salt Lake City June 22.

Upholds Policies

Control Fatal Fleming Says

TORONTO (CP) — Government controls cause confidence to falter, initiative to freeze and capital to take flight, Finance Minister Donald Fleming said Tuesday in an address to the Toronto branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Mr. Fleming upheld present government policies for dealing with Canadian financial and trade problems and rejected suggestions that more stringent remedies be applied.

The alternatives to the present policies, he suggested, would be government controls, import restrictions, restraint on the amount of money Canadians could take abroad, and a capital issue committee which would tell other governments and private business where and how they could borrow.

Such measures might be justifiable in a national crisis but not in peace.

Mr. Fleming also dealt with such specific topics as the premium on the Canadian dollar and trade with Japan.

U.S. Holdings Cost Canada Billion a Year

NEW YORK (UPI) — U.S.-owned companies have invested more than $20,000,000,000 in Canada and it costs Canada $1,000,000,000 a year to service these long-term private investments.

Although this averages out to 4.8 per cent, chairman Hardwick Stires of the Committee of Canadian Investment Companies said here Tuesday, the net cost to Canada of servicing these investments actually is 1.5 per cent of its gross national product.

Stires said the gross cost of paying dividends, interest and service fees has increased since 1954 at a slightly faster rate than Canada's gross national product—46 per cent against 45.

Shouting Churchgoers Battle at Altar Rail

NAPLES, Italy (Reuters)—Shouting churchgoers fought a free-for-all at the altar of a church here, just as the priest was about to serve communion. Police said the fight began when Aniello Miraglia, kneeling at the altar to receive communion, suddenly seized his neighbor by the collar and demanded that he repay a debt of 30,000 lire ($48). Communicants crowding at the altar to receive communion took sides and blows were exchanged. The priest telephoned the police, who restored order.

Suspects Break Down

Poison Victims Bring Tears

RABAT, Morocco (UPI) — Several Moroccan grocers charged with poisoning customers by mixing surplus U.S. jet engine oil with cooking oil broke down in tears yesterday when five partly-paralyzed victims entered the courtroom.

Mohammed Ben Abdallah, one of 24 defendants accused in the poisoning of more than 10,000 persons, collapsed. He recovered after a few minutes.

Silence fell over the usually noisy courtroom when five of the victims — three men and two women — hobbled into the court on the arms of nurses. They were ashen-faced with bent and twisted limbs.

New Pact Proposed To Canada

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A four-man international committee yesterday proposed that the United States and Canada form a new economic alliance with 18 European nations.

The new group would replace the 18-nation Organization for European Economic Co-operation (OEEC). The United States and Canada are only associate members.

The committee of four, known as the "four wise men," was formed at a 20-nation economic conference in Paris last January.

Koreans' Old Frustration Turns Lark to Bloodshed

By ARNOLD DIBBLE

TOKYO (UPI)—The bloody anti-government riots outside the home of President Syngman Rhee started almost as a spring student lark and then the years of frustration spilled over into anger and bloodshed.

This was no real revolution nor did it appear that the rioters had any broad backing. Other outbursts and violent demonstrations across the country all had the earmarks of spontaneous flareups.

But there is no doubt that many Koreans, especially the more sophisticated people in large cities, feel an almost helpless sense of frustration after the March 15 election which saw Rhee and his handpicked vice presidential candidate and heir, Lee Ki-poong, steamroller their way to victory.

There were election riots then, and the ones Tuesday that culminated in the bloody outburst in the heart of Seoul were an outgrowth.

Frustration was compounded by coincidence. For the second straight time, the presidential candidate of the opposition Democratic party died only days before the election.

In February, Democratic candidate Dr. Chough Pyung Ok died in a U.S. hospital. Nothing suspicious.

But in 1956 Democratic candidate Patrick Shinicky died 10 days before the election that returned Rhee to power. His death was attributed to a heart ailment, but not all his supporters believed that.

In that election, Democrat John Myung Chang was elected vice-president. Rhee shunned him. Chang was shot and wounded once in an assassination attempt.

The voters who oppose Rhee have had no outlet, no way of rallying behind someone to replace him, in two elections. Thus the riots.

Start Them Indoors

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

If you haven't written in yet for your free Colonist seeds of the Sutton Hybrid Nemesia flowers yet, I suggest that you get cracking and get that letter or coupon away within the next few days for sure. I thought I had an ample quantity of these rare seeds, but they are going out of here at a fantastic clip in response to your requests, and I doubt if I could get any more all the way from Copenhagen this late in the season, in case we should run ourselves out of stock.

As I mentioned yesterday, I think it pays to start these seeds indoors—not because they are lacking in hardiness, but because the seedlings are so tiny at first that one big solid raindrop could knock a baby plant flat. It is better to germinate the seeds and grow the seedlings under cover until they are big enough to stand up outdoors under blustery spring weather.

Sow the seeds as soon as you get them in pretty much the same way as you would tomato seed, using paper cups, cut-down milk-bottle cartons, cottage cheese or potted meat "tubs" or what have you.

As I write these notes, I have a thriving batch of Nemesia seedlings in front of me, coming along nicely under the light of my desk lamp. These are growing in a little plastic cup which once held head cheese in a supermarket.

The plastic container was first washed thoroughly in hot soapy water, then a couple of drainage holes were punched in the bottom with an ice pick. Next, a thickish wad of paper handkerchief was placed in the bottom to cover the holes. You can use toilet paper or absorbent paper toweling for this—the purpose is to act as a filter, allowing water to pass through and out the drainage holes, but keeping back grains of soil which might block the drainage.

I used a plastic bag of all-purpose potting soil to fill the container—the brand I buy is already steam-sterilized. If you wish to mix your own, moisten a quantity of good garden soil and bake it in the oven for one hour at 200 degrees, then mix it two parts soil to one of peat moss and one of vermiculite or coarse sand.

Fill to within half an inch of the rim, water very lightly, then space out your seeds on the soil surface by hand, keeping them a scant inch apart each way. Cover with a ¼-inch layer of straight peat moss or vermiculite. If your container has a lid, put it on; otherwise, stretch a square of plastic film over the top and hold it in place with an elastic band.

The purpose of this covering is to conserve moisture and make it unnecessary to water the seeds before they come through. Watering unsprouted seeds is a ticklish business, and many a promising batch of seedlings has been lost in this way. By covering the pot, a moist atmosphere is maintained around the seed and the plantlet is coaxed out that much sooner.

Keep the container in a warmish place, around 70 to 75 degrees night and day, and lift the cover to take a peek daily. As soon as the first seedling appears, remove the lid or plastic film and move into full sunlight, but in a somewhat lower temperature.

TV Not Entertainment — It's Information

A Few Friendly Heresies

Fred Friendly, one of television's most formidable critics and ardent admirers, uttered a number of heresies the other day which, I think, in this embattled time, deserve attention: "I don't think television is primarily a medium of entertainment," he said. "I think it is essentially a medium of information." I happen to think so and I wish this idea would get some currency.

"Every medium does one thing best," declared Friendly, who is executive producer of "CBS Reports" and Edward R. Murrow's right hand man. "Broadway does some things better than the movies do and the movies do some things much better than we do or than Broadway does. But the thing television can do better than anyone else is to take you somewhere.

When television takes you to India or to Nigeria or to a political convention or to a small county in Georgia, then we're at our best and no one can do it better."

The implication was loud as a gong that television didn't do its best act often enough. Friendly is a visionary with a clear idea what television can and should do with its enormous powers. He shudders at what is going to happen to us if television doesn't use them:

"I'm convinced—and I'll raise my hand whenever I use a cliche—what the people don't know can kill us—what we don't know about mechanics, about money, about industry, about Khrushchev.

"When the Russians want to learn something, they throw all their money and energies into learning it.

Viewing World
By John Crosby

Here with all our cheques and big business, we can't do that. Well, what can we do? These are important things to know and every one should know them and that is what television is for.

★ ★ ★

"Today everybody has got to know everything. If I understand you from reading your column, you're completely unmechanical. Well, you've got to learn mechanics. You've got to learn a lot of things—we all do. The answer is television.

I want the people to be as informed as Mr. Khrushchev. When he wants to know something, he gets the best man in the country to tell him. Why not us? The U.S. has an election coming up and it's just a popularity contest—there's no understanding of the issues or of the world position or anything—it's just Miss Universe of 1960. We can't afford to run our election like that."

I interrupted the torrent for a moment to ask whether the quiz and payola scandals hadn't helped the news and public affairs departments. He nodded vigorously: "Things are bubbling at the network and I'm enthusiastic about it. Next year, CBS Reports will have 26 shows—all of them sponsored. Big industry is coming to the realization that if the people don't get smarter, there won't be anyone left to sell anything to.

"Ed (Murrow) is ready to come back to television. He's been writing me full of fire and plans. I believe he'll be back in May, full of steam. I think the opportunity for Ed and me is right now. We've got a wonderful team—a true Bond of Brothers—a name Admiral Rickover gave us—men like Howard K. Smith, Av Westin, Arthur Morse, Jean DePoris, Jay McMullen, Steve Fleischman, and Bill Leonard. Ed will do a great many of the shows but CBS Reports will be the maximum effort of the whole news department.

"The only place television is going to be judged is by what comes out of that tube. I keep telling people in the industry to stop all the public relations and all the arguments with the critics and start putting out good programs. Maybe a bank needs a public relations man—but we've got that box in everyone's livingroom.

"You know every morning I struggle out of bed to get the newspaper. Nobody needs to tell me what's in it or what's not in it. I can see for myself. Television is in an even better position. You don't even have to go outside to get it. It's right in the house all the time."

Constant Struggle

'Egg Boxes' Threat To Face of London

LONDON (Reuters) — The face of London is changing rapidly.

A constant struggle is going on between people who want to put up office buildings with lucrative rents and those who feel concerned about architectural standards and the city's skyline.

Since the middle ages, London's skyline has been dominated by St. Paul's Cathedral, with Sir Christopher Wren's great dome following the 1666 fire.

FAMOUS VIEW

Dirty with grime and chemicals, St. Paul's still commands the famous view.

But today, multi-storey blocks of offices continually threaten to dominate it with shapes which have been likened to up-ended egg boxes, beer crates, or slabs of perforated concrete.

'THE CITY'

The number of people working what Londoners know as "The City," a square-mile area east of St. Paul's occupied by banks, stockbrokers, insurance firms, shippers and merchants, has been increasing at the rate of at least 15,000 a year and now is around 600,000.

With London getting choked by too much office building, traffic and people, the government has announced its determination to end concentration of commercial development in the centre.

ROYAL WARRANT

The Royal Fine Art Commission, which has royal warrant to investigate any building scheme, often has expressed concern over "deplorably low standards" of many new buildings.

Many people think the most startling blemish added to London's skyline since the war is the 300-foot-high and 30-foot-square chimneystack of the Bankside power station.

ONE VETOED

The City of London Corporation has an agreement with the dean of St. Paul's not to permit buildings above 64 feet high near the cathedral. One 76-foot-high structure was vetoed recently.

But 20 minutes walk away, beyond "The City" limits, the New Zealand government is building a four-storey centre, surmounted by a 20-storey tower which will rise to 225 feet. This is 40 feet higher than the Nelson column in nearby Trafalgar Square.

Discount Selling 'Unfair to John Public' so Chamber Will Investigate

Last time a group of stores gave special discounts to federal government employees, public opinion soon stopped them, retail merchants' group of the Chamber of Commerce was told yesterday. The group decided a committee should look into 11 stores agreeing to give discounts of up to 20 per cent to members of the Vancouver Island branch of the National Defence Employees Association and their families.

"It's very unfair to John Public," said Roy Denny, group chairman.

A committee will also study the case of a newly-opened "discount house" offering provincial employees membership cards at $1 entitling them to buy goods at "special prices."

Mr. Denny reported that investigation had showed a finance company was behind the operation, interest rates were above average, and some prices were higher than available elsewhere in town.

"Someone must think the civil servants are a bunch of dummies to fall for a gag like that," said Courtney Haddock.

The group will recommend to chamber directors that they press, as others in Canada are doing, for the plugging of a legal loophole which would allow special "shops" to be set up at the U.S. border to sell duty-free imports to departing tourists.

Fiftieth Birthday Party Open to All

Navy Entertains May 21

The navy will open the gates of Esquimalt dockyard to the public May 21 as it celebrates the 50th anniversary of its founding.

Ships and establishments will be opened to visitors.

On the evening before the big day, a jubilee ball will be held at HMCS Naden.

The RCN plans to play a big role in the annual Victoria Day parade through city streets on May 23 as it continues its birthday celebrations.

The anniversary officially falls on May 4—the date in 1910 on which royal assent was given to the Naval Service Act—but special activties are being held throughout most of the year at various centres across Canada.

Nationwide ceremonies commemorating the Battle of the Atlantic will be held Sunday, May 8.

Board Takes Over

Schooling Set For Retarded

Greater Victoria school board will take over education of a limited number of retarded children this September.

Trustees last night decided to carry on operation of the classes in the present school for retarded youngsters at 1075 Joan Crescent.

TWO SHIFTS

Enrolment will be kept to a maximum of 30—all that the building will safely hold—but this number may be doubled by adopting morning and afternoon shifts.

Permanent quarters for retarded children's classes are to be considered as part of the board's new building program which it plans to put to a vote this December.

In other business, trustees:

● Decided complaints from city council regarding supplying of free exercise books and a pencil to each Grade 1 student starting in September resulted from a "misunderstanding." The program will cost $742.

● Agreed to make a joint study with Saanich council of possibility of locating school and park sites so many of the facilities get double use.

● Ruled that more than 300 students living in an area bounded by Blenkinsop on the west and Cedar Hill Cross Road on the south who will be entering Grades 7 and 8 this fall must attend the new Gordon Head Junior High School.

● Decided to ask permission of Victoria University Council for students living in Cadboro Bay and Ten-Mile Point sections to take a short-cut to the new school through the Gordon Head campus.

● Declared war on student "litterbugs" by suggesting teachers step up the educational campaign to prevent students "wandering around the streets" while eating their lunches.

Announcement the board would take over classes for retarded children followed months of negotiation with the Greater Victoria Retarded Children's Association.

PRE-SCHOOL

The association, it was indicated, will concentrate its efforts in future on training for pre-school and older retarded children.

Trustees appointed Harvey Mickelson, supervisor of mental health in local schools, to head the whole program of special education including classes for retarded children.

RECOMMENDED

The board also authorized hiring of three special teachers for the classes and recommended preference be given in filling two of the posts to teachers who are now teaching 27 retarded children in the school.

In the early stages, classes will be for local children only, but later some students from Sooke and Saanich may be included.

Built-In Summons

New 'Ticket' All-Inclusive

A "uniform" type of traffic ticket with a built-in summons, was announced yesterday by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

To get the one-ticket program started it has been launched in all unorganized areas of the province where the RCMP is the instrument of law and order.

And Mr. Bonner said yesterday he hopes that the rest of the province, municipalities included, will adopt the new form.

The new "ticket" is a perforated, four-part, serial-numbered, multi-choice, four-color, summons-included, universal form.

With adoption of the form the actual practice of writing may become a thing of the past with traffic policemen.

With a series of mere check marks in no less than 80 optional squares a constable will be able to record anything from a simple offence like speeding in a municipality to "disobeying traffic control device—yellow light—flashing at an intersection in the rain at night just missing an accident by coming close (or very close) to a pedestrian causing person to dodge in a built up industrial area by a playground on a four-lane divided highway."

Or, if the incident should defy the multi-choice "you-commit-it I'll-check-it-off" system, a small space is provided in which police can describe in their own words the type of truly rare act which is not actually covered on the form.

Unit cost of the new ticket could not be readily ascertained here yesterday but Mr. Bonner said he guessed they would run to "a few cents apiece."

He said municipalities have already indicated that they will adopt the new ticket.

Purpose of the universal ticket, he stated, is to provide uniform information to the motor vehicle branch and to eliminate "a great deal of clerical effort which used to be required in connection with traffic tickets."

Santa Sought Early —As Well As Late

Merchants are under public pressure to invite Santa Claus to town sooner as well as later, retail merchants' group of the Chamber of Commerce will inform the Victoria and District Parent-Teacher Council.

The council wrote to the Chamber expressing concern about the earliness of Christmas advertising, saying the arrival of Santa Claus and other factors contributing to over-excitement of children weeks before Christmas shouldn't be encouraged.

One of the merchants, however, said that Victoria stores had started Christmas advertising on the same day as others across the country for several years, and another said "a large part" of the public kept pressing for Santa Claus' arrival.

Junior SPCA Starts Today

Organizational meeting of the new junior branch of the SPCA will be held at 2 p.m. today at the CCF hall on Courtney Street. Membership is open to children between 12 and 17.

Chamber

Sign Bylaw Asked

Retail merchants' group of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday called for a city sign bylaw which would prevent signs from detracting from Victoria's charm.

The group approved a report from a special committee which said, in part, that the sign companies should not have the right to inflict "unrestricted commercialism" on the population and that any loss in community income from restriction of signs probably would be offset by tourist traffic to a different and distinctive city.

LOSS OF REVENUE

The committee considered that sign company spokesmen's claims of prospective loss of revenue were "overestimated and emotional."

Sign company representatives earlier this year foresaw catastrophe for their industry when a draft bylaw was submitted to city public works committee which would have outlawed standard billboards after three years and imposed several other new restrictions.

DRAFT FILED

The works committee "filed" the draft and ordered a new one prepared in consultation with the industry.

The Chamber group also gave its support yesterday to Victoria's off-street parking and downtown improvement plan, which will come to a vote of business-district property-owners May 19.

Clusters or Not

$17,500 Bill Certain For Wiring

Victoria must spend $17,500 this year to complete underground ducts for downtown street lighting whether cluster lights are to be retained or not, city council's public works committee was advised yesterday.

The committee suggested that finance committee should recommend where the money is to come from, although Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow noted that taking it from the reverted land sales fund would save the taxpayers money.

YET TO DECIDE

City council has yet to decide what changes will be made in the downtown lighting system when all wiring goes underground next year.

If the cluster lights are to be retained, lighting superintendent Kenneth Reid has reported, total expenditure will have to be from $282,985 to $313,225.

TWO SCHEMES

In addition to the "essential requirements" for retaining and preserving the cluster lights, first sum would provide mercury lighting on streets without clusters and combination light and traffic signal poles at signalled intersection.

Higher sum would provide a system of poles with cluster light brackets, mid-block supplementary lighting and transfer of surplus cluster standards to streets now without them.

Esquimalt

Water Figures On Way

Figures relating a proposed increase in Victoria-Esquimalt water rates to the water distribution system investment in Esquimalt were scheduled to be forwarded by the city yesterday to the Public Utilities Commission and Esquimalt municipality.

Esquimalt has reserved the right to protest to the PUC if it considers, on studying the new figures, that the 40-to-50 per cent increase approved by city council is unjustified.

Original submission to city council treated the Victoria-Esquimalt water system as a whole, and the proposed rates would not only cover a 30 per cent increase in the wholesale water rate but allow a 5 per cent "fair return" on the system.

Rezoning Allowed

Application for rezoning a number of lots to retail commercial for construction of a shopping centre between Cadboro Bay Road, Penrhyn and Sinclair, was granted last night by Saanich council.

Two other applications for rezoning of other areas for use as shopping centres were rejected by council.

Cut Down Costs, Fire, Police Told

Saanich council last night unanimously endorsed a motion from Reeve George Chatterton calling for measures to halt increased expenditures by the fire and police departments.

Finance committee will "explore all means of effecting savings in the fire protection services." The police commission will be asked to do the same, "to see if they can stop all further increases in expenditures."

The action came after a conciliation board recently awarded Saanich police and firemen wage increases of nearly 11 per cent.

'Just Long Shot'

Premium On U.S. Money?

A suggestion that Vancouver Island merchants pay a premium on U.S. money instead of discounting it startled the retail merchants' group of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

It came from Courtney Haddock, who described it as just "a long shot." Possibly, he suggested, it would make the Island such an attraction for tourists that the volume of trade would more than make up for it.

"If you would like to head a committee to look into it . . ." said chairman Roy Denny.

"No, thanks," said Mr. Haddock.

Hearings Set April 21 On Highway Rezoning

Public hearing on three applications for rezoning of land along the old Island Highway has been set for 8 p.m. April 21 in the View Royal Community Hall.

The properties are at Admirals and the highway, where a drive-in restaurant is proposed, and in the Parsons Bridge area, where a service station and a motel are planned.

The applications can be inspected in the regional planning division office of the municipal affairs department in the Douglas Building.

Cowichan

River Yields Body

DUNCAN—The body of a Victoria astronomer was pulled from the Cowichan River yesterday morning nearly 24 hours after he died attempting to do what was once a popular pastime for daredevils here.

Joseph Daniel Francis, 24, of 3085 Colquitz, was pronounced dead on the spot by Coroner Dr. Edgar Gee of Lake Cowichan, about four miles below where he and his brother had entered the river in a canoe.

SHALLOW STRETCH

The body was found at 10.35 a.m. by three searchers in a boat near a shallow stretch of water.

The doctor said last night there will be an inquiry into the incident, but that a full inquest was not needed. The body was released for burial.

Indians did a thriving business for almost 20 years shooting all but one section of rapids in the 20-mile-long river in dugout canoes for tourists.

TWO-HOUR SEARCH

Twelve civilians, on each side of the river and in a 24-foot river boat, searched for two hours in a light drizzle and poor visibility.

Boat owner Arthur Hancock, Robert Starter and Robert Grute, all of Lake Cowichan, sighted the body. They transported it down river a short distance where the boat was beached until the coroner and police arrived.

CLUNG TO PADDLE

Among the searchers were relations of the dead man and his surviving brother, Edwin, 35, who clung to a paddle that was tied to the 19-foot canoe after it had thrown them into the cold water and they went into a whirlpool.

Chuck Thorne, a former Cowichan Indian chief, said yesterday he had been "too scared" to take the trip with his father, William Thorne, who operated the ride until he died in 1942.

SHOT RIVER

Sometimes with as many as three or four passengers, William Thorne and a rear paddler, shot the winding and dangerous river five or six times a year.

The canoe was drifted down over Skutz Falls, he said, and then the passengers got in again about the place the two brothers started their trip Monday.

Rubber

Bandage Ordered For Pipe

All that sponge rubber doesn't mean a softer job for water board employees.

In an intriguing advertisement, the board has called for tenders to supply 2,500 square feet of quarter-inch sponge rubber "similar to the type used under carpeting."

But it won't be used under carpeting, Commissioner Ronald Upward explained yesterday. Strips of it, clamped tight, are used to bandage the water line from Sooke Lake to Goldstream.

From 250 to 300 of the line's 36,000 joints have to be bandaged every year, Mr. Upward said. A tunnel is scheduled to replace the leaking line in five years.

St. George Society Dinner Saturday

Saanich Portion

Marine Drive Gets $56,000

A Capital Improvement District Commission project authorizing expenditure of $56,000 for improvement of a Saanich portion of Marine Drive was approved by the provincial cabinet yesterday.

The project is similar to previous ones involving widening and provision of parking areas along the scenic route which runs from Ogden Point in downtown Victoria to Cordova Bay.

The money will be spent on a 1¼-mile section of the coastal drive from the Oak Bay boundary at Hibben's Close.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Our 16-year-old son went into a near convulsion because I picked up a phonograph record with my bare hands. He hysterically informed me just don't touch records with your hands because the oil from human hands spoils the grooves or some such nonsense. You are supposed to used a flannel cloth. Fancy that!

Furthermore, I have been informed that an ordinary, everyday sapphire needle ruins good records and now we have to buy a diamond stylus. Have the kids of today gone nuts or am I a crazy old coot of 44? Thank you for an answer. — OUT-OF-IT DAD.

Dear Dad: Ain't it the truth? When I was a girl (back in the Stone Age) we had a phonograph with a two-bit needle and thought it was great. Today if you don't have stereo or at least hi-fi you're underprivileged.

It's true, however, that kids today have a much healthier respect for records than we did—and this is good. It encourages them to respect good music. So live with it, Dad. They could be out shooting pool.

Out with Old Flame

Dear Ann: I've been going with this fellow five years. We were engaged six months ago and planned a June wedding. Last week he taunted me once too often about an old girl friend so I told him to take her out and get it over with.

Well, he took her out not once but three times, then suggested we should postpone our wedding until he is "sure." I told him if he wanted to postpone the wedding he could have his ring back. He said, "Thank you. I'll take it."

He calls me every night and tells me he loves me best, but I know he's been seeing her. Was I a fool to encourage him to take her out? My mother says I was a ninny.

I love him very much and now I'm afraid I've lost him for good. Please help me through this rough period. — TELLY.

Dear Telly: You did the right thing when you gave back the ring and postponed the wedding. The girl who marries a man who has doubts plus an eye for an old flame makes a big mistake. He's bound to slip his collar sooner or later.

It took courage to do what you did, and it may have saved you a lifetime of marital woe or a heartbreaking divorce. If he comes back (and he may) you'll know he wants you more than anyone else — and he'll know it, too.

Mind Own Business

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is one of those good-natured schlimiels who wants to give everybody a hand. I've told him a hundred times to mind his own business but he won't listen.

Last night we were waiting for another couple to join us in front of the movie. My husband noticed a big burly guy pushing a young woman around. Their conversation got louder and louder and then he slapped her face. My husband rushed over, grabbed the man by the arm and before he knew what hit him the big guy planted one right on his jaw.

Then the woman started to beat on my husband with her fists and said, "Leave him alone. He's my boy friend and he can slap me if he wants to." It was apparent then that they were both drunk.

My husband admitted maybe he was a bit hasty to get involved in this one but he insists that it pays to "help people." What do you say? — WIFE OF A BOY SCOUT.

Dear Wife: I agree it pays to help people, but butting into a fight between a couple of stewed characters is not "helping people." Besides, it's dangerous.

To learn to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking and Petting—And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope. (Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Old Friends Gather For 60th Anniversary

Victoria is a second home to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burren of Calgary. Although they have never lived here for long, every winter they spend some time in Victoria and many of their friends are residents here.

This weekend they paid Victoria a great compliment, travelling to this Island to celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary on Saturday, April 16.

Mrs. H. Brockway of 1127 Richardson Road, has been a friend of the Burrens for more than 50 years and to mark the occasion of the diamond wedding she held a reception for them at her home, Monday evening.

Guests at the affair were all old friends.

Most of them had known the Burrens for 40 or 50 years, way back at the time they all lived in Regina.

Mr. and Mrs. Burren were married in Tonbridge Wells, England and came to Canada in 1906. They lived first in Montreal, then Regina before eventually moving to Calgary.

Their family is nearly all in Calgary and it is that which keeps them from moving to Victoria permanently. Of their two sons one lives in Ottawa and the other in Calgary. They have two grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Guests at the reception presented Mrs. Burren with a crystal rose bowl. They included Mrs. Christine MacKay, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Elliott, Mrs. Jessie Eliott, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bancroft, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lockwood, Mrs. Alexander Blackwood and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Blackwood.

9 IN MEMORIAM

BURKE — In loving memory of Emma E. Burke, who passed away April 20, 1959.
Dear mother, you are not forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more,
Still in memory you are with us
As you always were before.
Deep in our hearts you are fondly remembered,
Sweet, happy memories cling
'Round your name;
True hearts that loved you with deepest affection,
Always will love you in death just the same.
—The family.

FRENCH — In loving memory of Lucy Marion French who passed away April 20, 1957:
The depth of sorrow we cannot tell
Of the loss of one we love so well,
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep,
Her memory we shall always keep.
—Always remembered by Mother, Dolly, Ralph and children.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

When defending a hand, it is wise to take time out to try to reconstruct declarer's original holding. Clues are usually available in the bidding and the high cards which have already turned up in declarer's hand during the play. Today's hand is an excellent case in point.

A double of an opening one no-trump bid shows the equivalent of a one no-trump opening bid. West was a point light, but—as he was sitting over the bidder—he decided to double anyway. North should have bid two clubs, but didn't, and East had no place to go, so West's double ended the bidding.

East's spade ten went to South's king. South started on the diamonds by leading the queen. West won the king and paused to take stock. It was apparent from the first trick that South had the ace, king and queen of spades and also the diamond queen and jack. If declarer had the heart ace as well, the defence was doomed, so West decided to play his partner for that one card. He led the heart king, like a man who held the ace, and followed it up with a low heart.

Poor South fell for the ruse. He went up with the queen, and the defence thus rattled off four heart tricks. South was forced to discard his spade nine on the last heart. East and West still had to win two more tricks with the ace of diamonds and the king of clubs, and South was down one.

'Fee Won't Let Them Live'

Bitter, Resentful Cubans Laugh Grimly, Secretly

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

SANTIAGO DE CUBA (AP)—What's the difference between Fee and Foo?"

If no stranger is listening, the disillusioned Cuban answers: "Foo killed Cubans. Fee won't let them live."

Foo means Fulgencio — former dictator Fulgencio Batista. Fee means Fidel — Premier Castro, who toppled Batista 15 months ago.

TELL, LAUGH

Scores of bitter jokes make the rounds of the country—the sort which brought a blast from the controlled trade union leadership in Havana: Those who tell and those who laugh at such jokes are counter-revolutionary.

The grim, secret laughter is a symptom of resentment. Much of it is directed at INRA, the national institute of agrarian reform, which has severely damaged the Cuban cattle industry.

Its policies harass the sugar industry, the country's economic backbone.

One of many names for INRA whispered throughout Cuba is "Instituto Nacional de Robos Authorizados" (National Institute of Authorized Robberies).

THIS IS REAL

Butt of many a joke is A. I. Mikoyan, Soviet deputy premier who visited Cuba recently. A typical one: After looking around Cuba, Mikoyan says to an aide: "This is real communism—not that junk we have in Russia."

Some of the resentment against Castro—not a great deal yet—has seeped through to peasants, the laboring class and those in the lower brackets of the white collar class.

These, and the noisy element among teenage and university students, represent Castro's most important backlog of mass support.

Particularly among students there is far less than wholehearted support for the revolution's policies.

SWIFT RISE

And among the substantial middle class and mature elements of the educated population, disaffection is rising swiftly.

Sooner or later, anger will rise to the surface, spurred by a suspicion of betrayal.

40-State Stock Swindle Reaches Into Canada

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Two corporations and 20 persons were indicted Tuesday by a federal grand jury in a multi-million-dollar stock swindle that spreads over 40 states.

The 27-count indictment was the signal for arrests in New York, California and Canada.

Federal officials said more than 100 Ohioans were swindled of more than a quarter of a million dollars over six months.

The two corporations indicted were Lincoln Securities, a New York firm and Shoreland Mines, an Ontario concern. But no Canadians were believed involved.

Justice Department officials express the belief that the swindle was a "branching out" of the Mafia into the field of securities operations.

Better Franch for All

Comment Parlez Vous? Has Quebec Listening

QUEBEC (CP)—Public and high school students — and their parents—are listening to a twice-weekly radio program designed to raise the standard of spoken French.

The students have to listen —they may be questioned about it next day in class.

The 15-minute program, Comment Parlez Vous? (How Do You Speak?), is broadcast by CHRC Quebec during the supper hour when parents not only can make sure their children listen, but can take advantage of the opportunity to improve their own French.

VERY BAD

The format is simple. Marie and Pierre, two school-age youngsters, read a brief dialogue that is full of poor pronunciation, bad grammar and corruptions of English words.

Nothing is exaggerated. The same brand of French can be heard almost anywhere in Quebec.

LINE BY LINE

When the two-minute conversation is finished, two grownups pick it apart line by line, explaining the errors. At the program's end, the dialogue is repeated in precise, well-enunciated French.

The program has two main aims, says Jean-Marie Laurence, a distinguished linguist who is its creator and writer—to improve the standard of everyday French and "to interest parents in the work of the students."

Royal Marriage Biggest Show For Europe's TV

LONDON (CP) — The wedding of Princess Margaret and Antony Armstrong-Jones will be the biggest television project ever undertaken in Europe. The United States and Canada also will see the event on TV.

Sixteen TV organizations in continental Europe will carry the event from the time the Royal party leaves Clarence House, the Princess' home, until the newly-married couple return to Buckingham Palace for the wedding breakfast.

DONE BY BBC

The actual filming will be done by the British Broadcasting Corporation which will channel the program over the Eurovision network. Sixteen foreign commentors will sit before monitor sets at BBC headquarters and describe the wedding in various languages.

The National Broadcasting Company will transmit sections of the wedding films across the ocean. They will be shown in Canada and the United States about two hours after the ceremony.

FIRST TIME

This will be the first time TV cameras have been allowed inside Westminster Abbey to cover a Royal wedding ceremony. But no microphones will be allowed near the altar, and no close-up pictures will be taken while the couple are exchanging vows.

Drugs Smuggled Into U.S. Prison

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP) — Prison guard Ted Schoessler and Lucy Richardson, wife of a prisoner, were arrested Tuesday, accused of helping smuggle stimulant-type drugs into the state penitentiary.

Three prisoners believed involved were placed in isolation.

Moving Up

Often seen on U.S. television as a dumb blonde, actress Joi Lansing is moving up with a leading role in film "Who Was That Lady?" Here she leaves Hollywood for the film's New York opening.

Control Fear Stalls Arts

TORONTO (CP) — Development of the arts has been held back to a certain extent in Canada by fear of state control, says conductor Sir Ernest MacMillan.

Sir Ernest said the arts may well thrive on state support, but he warned that too active state support might lead to political influence and control.

Shy to Skip Lip to Lip?

VANCOUVER (CP)—The teaching of artificial respiration by mouth-to-mouth breathing has the Canadian Red Cross worried.

"It's easy enough to teach the method to doctors, nurses and interns," said C. E. Blackstock, national director of the Canadian Red Cross water safety services.

"But you can't just take a random class of rescuers and pair them off, man and woman, and tell them to put their mouths together and practice breathing. Can you?"

Mom Whyte's B.C. Defeat Aftermath of Ontario?

SUMMERLAND, B.C. (CP) —Mrs. Bertha (Mom) Whyte Tuesday blamed Ontario health authorities for the refusal of B.C. government officials to grant her a licence for a home for old people.

Mrs. Whyte, whose Ontario home for children was closed by provincial authorities, said she was baffled because "we were assured before we moved in that if we brought the home up to certain standards a licence would be granted."

E. R. Rickinson, deputy minister of social welfare, said reasons for refusal of such a licence are never made public.

"I can say the refusal had nothing to do with the home itself but with the people proposing to run it," he added.

Many Voices Sing Tonight

Victoria's Meistersingers, sopranos Ruth Champion and Marjorie Sturgeon, mezzo-soprano Lorna Griffiths and Betts and her Buddies will sing in a concert beginning at 8.15 tonight in Sir James Douglas School auditorium.

Sponsor is the Fairfield United Church choir, with proceeds for the choir's organ fund.

Anti-Police Campaign Success in Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — State prosecutor Radion Rudenko says great progress has been made in ridding the Soviet Union of police repression and the campaign is continuing.

"It is necessary to end the widespread use of deprivation of freedom, especially for first offenders," he said.

Canada had 509 retail chain store firms operating in 1958 with 9,604 outlets and a total sales of $3,073,000,000.

B.C. Visit Possible

Red Teachers Due?

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. Teachers' Federation has voted unanimously to reopen the question of exchange visits with Russian teachers.

The plan, proposed by the Canadian federation, was passed by the B.C. group last year, but no action was taken. It would not be an exchange teacher deal but an exchange of delegations.

French pronunciation instructions by long-distance telephone and automatic machine were forecast by Prof. Howard Nostrand, chairman of the department of romance languages at the University of Washington.

Small-town language teachers will phone long distance for a tape recording of French vowel sounds piped into the classroom, while students would test pronunciation by speaking into a machine which would accept only pronunciation acceptable to Frenchmen and Germans.

B.C. students are so busy learning that they don't have time for enough physical education, say delegates to the B.C. health and physical education conference, held with the teachers' convention. They said there are just not enough hours to maintain an adequate program.

Also in Vancouver, Dean S. N. F. Chant said the Chant commission on B.C. education is finding the job tougher than it thought, so the report to revamp B.C.'s school system will be six months late.

In Toronto, Dr. R. S. Laycock, former University of Saskatchewan dean of education, said there is a "chorus of conflicting views" on how children are to be educated to become "good citizens of our democracy," and the confusion is having a detrimental effect on the pupils' development.

Show Business

By Dick Williams

Pat Wayne, John Wayne's handsome young son, recently filmed a segment for TV's Rawhide series with pretty Suzanne Lloyd. Unlike Wayne, with limited acting experience, Suzanne has appeared in 92 TV films in the last two years.

Knowing this, the director called her aside before a key scene. "Pat hasn't had too much experience," he explained, "but I don't want him to appear wooden in this romantic scene. Forget the way we rehearsed it—do it this way." And he whispered instructions in her ear.

When the camera rolled, Suzanne grabbed Pat and planted a sizzling smooch on him—not the make-believe kiss they'd rehearsed. Young Wayne was totally astounded. From the sidelines the director enthusiastically motioned her on.

As the performers clinched, Suzanne nipped Pat's ear. "What's she going to do next?" read the expression on Pat's face.

The director was happy with the sequence and uses this example to prove there's more than one way to extract a realistic performance from an actor.

Brakeman-Heir To View Estate

BARNSTAPLE, England (CP) — Robert Ernest Williams, 36-year-old CNR brakeman, hopes to come to England this summer with his wife for a look over the estate in Devon of which he is the heir, the wife of the present baronet said Monday night.

Lady Williams, 52, said there was no dispute over the fact the Canadian is the legitimate heir of her husband, eighth holder of a baronetcy created in 1866.

"We have never met Mr. Williams," Lady Williams said. "But he rang us up at four o'clock one morning, English time, to say he had discovered he was the heir."

Union Claim 'Baloney'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Richard Greaves, West Coast organizer for the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers, said Tuesday he has received a report that the rival Seafarers' International Union has expelled 13 of its members for joining the CBRT.

Rod Helnekey, new port agent for the SIU, called the report "a bunch of baloney."

School Rate Up Under Half Mill

The average mill rate for school purposes in four Greater Victoria municipalities will go up less than half a mill this year—from 18.934 mills last year to 19.363 mills this year.

Officials said yesterday the mill rates in individual municipalities will vary slightly, above and below, the average.

T. L. Christie, secretary-treasurer of Greater Victoria school board, said official figures received from the provincial government confirm local taxpayers will only have to bear one-third of this year's increased school costs, instead of the usual half.

The provincial government will pay $653,830 of the $987,444 increase in this year's record school budget of $7,896,087. Officials said the increased government share resulted from slightly higher teacher salary grants and some supplementary grants.

Traffic Fines

Car Registration Slip Must Be in the Open

An automobile's glove compartment may seem like a good place to keep a motor vehicle registration slip, but not in the eyes of the law.

William Robert Batters, 1020 Bank, was fined $10 in city police court yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to post the slip in a conspicious place on his vehicle.

The crown said that when Batters was stopped by a traffic officer and asked to produce the car's registration he took it from the glove compartment and said he always kept it there.

Fines totalling $70 were imposed on an 18-year-old naval seaman, Richard Douglas Edens, when he pleaded guilty to driving without a licence, using a licence issued to someone else and being in possession of liquor.

Gary Louis Fletcher, 311 Stewart, was fined $15 for failing to dim headlights and Selveo Pelirzz fined $10 for failing to display a light on a bicycle.

Robert Theodore Copley, 4260 Carey, was fined $15 for failing to stop at a stop sign and Anthony Kendall Gelsthorpe, 1238 St. Patrick, was fined $20 for going 45 miles an hour in a 30 zone.

Brian Hambleton, Sea View Auto Court, was fined $20 for driving without licence plates.

Reward Grows

VANCOUVER (CP) — Rewards offered for the capture of Tom Fat's slayer rose to $8,000 Tuesday but police said they have little hope of a quick solution to the brutal Easter Sunday murder.

The Chau Luen Kon Soi Society Tuesday added a $4,000 reward to two amounts of $2,000 previously offered by the Vancouver Police Commission and Radio Station CKNW.

The 65-year-old Chinese grocer was beaten and stabbed to death early Sunday when he apparently surprised burglars breaking into his store in Vancouver's Mount Pleasant district.

Rebrin Case Adjourned

VANCOUVER (AP) — Lecturer Irene Rebrin's court battle to escape deportation was adjourned Tuesday until Friday by Mr. Justice T. G. Norris of the B.C. Supreme Court. No reason was given in court.

1½ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder

½ cup finely chopped nutmeats
¼ teaspoon maple flavoring

More A-Arms French Target

OTTAWA (CP) — Control of missiles and aircraft should be the first step towards nuclear and general disarmament, President Charles de Gaulle of France said Tuesday.

Following the highlight speech of his 36-hour state visit to Ottawa, crowded into a busy schedule of official visits and ceremonies, Gen. de Gaulle said at a press conference that France would go on building atomic weapons until there is general agreement on their control.

OPTIMISTIC

He was optimistic that some accord would be reached at next month's summit conference, though not all the world's problems would be solved. He also urged countries, which have means to organize an international co-operative, endeavor for a long-range attack on the problems of the underdeveloped countries.

The French president's day started with an hour-long private conference with Prime Minister Diefenbaker at Government House, followed by an hour's conference with the full Canadian cabinet on Parliament Hill.

LAID WREATH

He visited the Parliament buildings and the Peace Tower memorial chamber, and laid a wreath at the national war memorial. He called at city hall, attended the government luncheon at the Chateau Laurier hotel, where he spoke, and gave a dinner and reception Tuesday night at the French embassy.

Gen. and Mme. de Gaulle, with Foreign Minister Couve de Murville, leave Ottawa today for Quebec City. They will be in Montreal and Toronto Thursday and Friday before flying to Washington.

NO NOTES

Gen. de Gaulle delivered his after-luncheon speech without notes, following almost verbatim a prepared text distributed in advance to the press. Because of poor eyesight, he memorizes most of his speeches.

France's prime objective, he said, is peace.

"Of course we realize that to organize it, we must travel a long and difficult road.

COUNTRY SATISFIED

"My country is satisfied with the approaching meeting of the summit, the heads of governments who are supremely responsible, those who are commonly called the Big Four.

"France believes that there should first be introduced among these four states, and

School Trustees Complain About 'Copter Landings

School trustees in Greater Victoria last night complained demonstration landings by Okanagan helicopters at Macdonald Park earlier this month "dangered the lives" and caused distraction among pupils of nearby James Bay Elementary School. Chairman W. C. Gelling said he had been assured by city officials helicopter landings were "not a regular thing."

Frigid Welcome

Cool Nehru Chills Chou

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai Tuesday was greeted by a stern Jawaharlal Nehru, hostile demonstrations and a correct but cool welcome when he arrived to discuss disputed border questions.

The Chinese leader will be in India six days to discuss with the Indian prime minister their serious border quarrel. Nehru made a pointed reference in his welcoming speech to their strained relations.

About 100 demonstrators, members of the right wing Hindu Mahasabha party, tried to break through a police cordon and stage a protest at the presidential palace, where Chou is staying. They clashed with police, who drove them back.

Heavy security precautions surrounded Chou's reception at New Delhi airport, with only carefully-screened guests present.

As Chou stepped from his plane, Nehru appeared not to notice his outstretched hand and only shook it after photographers demanded it.

Only a few thousand persons gathered in groups along the route to the city and they were silent and undemonstrative.

In his airport speech, Nehru drew attention to the strained relations following events which shocked the Indian people and "imperilled relationships in the present and the future."

Summit

Do Reds Want Pact?

LONDON (UPI) — Diplomatic dispatches report mounting indications in Moscow that Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev was anxious to reach some positive agreement with the Big three western leaders at the summit conference in Paris next month.

Recent Soviet propaganda has led western observers in the Soviet capital to believe Khrushchev wants to avoid having the meeting labeled a failure. Khrushchev's own prestige was seen as heavily involved since he was the prime mover for the meeting of the heads of government of the Big Four.

In addition, Khrushchev was understood to want a second summit, which he apparently hoped to have in Moscow.

Stay-Home Strike Flops

JOHANNESBURG (CP) —South African Negro political leaders lost a major trial of strength with the white government Tuesday when a stay-at-home strike flopped badly. (See stories on Page 7.)

Britain Debates Satellite

LONDON (CP) — Whether Britain intends to shoot a satellite into orbit should be known within weeks.

Decision will come in a parliamentary announcement on the future, if any, of the Blue Streak missile—already discarded as a carrier of atomic warheads.

If the government decides to maintain the missile for research purposes, it will undoubtedly mean a satellite will eventually be launched. If it is cancelled outright, there will obviously be no independent British space program for a long time.

Korean Fires Still Smoke

Death Toll 80

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Christian Herter, in an unusual public rebuke, called on South Korea Tuesday to end what he called "repressive measures" against anti-government demonstrators.

"Unsuited to a free democracy," Herter said of the crackdown by South Korean troops and police.

Herter spoke out publicly after calling in South Korea's ambassador, Dr. You Chan Yang, to express the "profound and growing concern" of the U.S. government.

80 DEAD

Herter met with the ambassador in the wake of bloody riots in five Korean cities which had left 80 or more dead and more than 300 injured.

Showing sympathy with the demonstrators, Herter called on President Syngman Rhee's government to take swift action to restore fundamental freedoms in the Asian republic.

BEATNIK-TYPE

Leaving Herter's office, Yang refused to acknowledge that his government was guilty of repressive measures.

Yang said Communist agents had incited high school and college students and a "beatnik-type mob" to riot. He said his government sought by non-violent methods to stop the rioting.

"But when the policemen were shot at what could they do but return the firing?" Yang asked.

Martial Law Declared

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Defiant students and townspeople armed with guns, knives and clubs held mob control over northeastern Seoul today in the bloody, fiery Korean civilian revolt against alleged political corruption. Ruins of public buildings still smoked from mob-set fires.

President Syngman Rhee's government—now in its fourth four-year term — called troops into Seoul and proclaimed martial law here and in four other cities Tuesday night after clashes between police and 100,000 demonstrators challenging the result of recent national elections.

STREETS CLEARED

The troops quickly cleared most streets in Seoul and other cities and restored an uneasy peace.

But in northeastern Seoul, hot-bed of resistance or Rhee's ruling liberal party, hundreds of demonstrators still roamed. Army tanks and truckloads of soldiers moved on that sector this morning.

SCHOOLBOYS IN FORE

Schoolboys were in the forefront of Tuesday's swirling battle where tear-gas fell thick and police rifles poured volley after volley into the ranks of the demonstrators.

The clashes, facing the tough-minded 85-year-old Rhee with his gravest crisis since the Korean war, were sparked by protests over alleged frauds and strongarm tactics in the March 15 presidential elections which Rhee's Liberal party won.

Censorship blanked out spaces in this morning's newspapers where casualty figures would have appeared.

"Emergency martial law"—meaning military rule under wartime conditions — was invoked to meet a swelling tidal wave of public protests growing out of March 15 polling which re-elected Rhee.

Seoul, Pusan, Taegu, Taejon and Kwangju were under martial law, and the capital for a time seemed almost in a state of anarchy. The army imposed censorship on Korean newspapers.

Almost like a capital at war, Seoul was in a state of riotous turmoil throughout Tuesday.

Hanging Accident Kills Helpful Boy

By ERITH M. SMITH

His keen interest in Scouting, and his anxiety to help others with the same interests, led an Esquimalt boy indirectly to his death Monday afternoon.

Stephen Foster Pellow, 13, only son of CPO Francis A. and Mrs. Pellow, 537 Fraser, was found strangled in the Fraser Street Scout Hall, between 4 and 5 p.m., by his father and Scoutmaster David Kerridge.

Esquimalt police had no report to make. Chief Gilbert Stancombe could not be reached for comment. The boy's parents were too overcome to talk about it, and others with any direct knowledge of the death had been instructed to say nothing.

SKYLARKING

However, Reeve A. C. Wurtele, who had discussed the tragedy with Chief Stancombe, said death apparently was caused inadvertently while skylarking.

"The boy had been playing with some others, games in which a rope was involved," he said. "At the time of his death, however, he was alone, but it appears clear that skylarking led to his being strangled by the rope."

Stephen was an active member of 1st Esquimalt Boy Scout Troop. Taking advantage of Monday's semi-holiday, the troop planned a hike.

Mrs. E. Miller of Nanaimo, his grandmother, told the Colonist Stephen decided to remain behind in order to help another member of the troop with some proficiency qualifications.

"It was typical of him," she said. "He was always trying to help the others."

It is believed to have been some time after helping the other lad that Stephen met his death.

NO INQUEST

Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart said there would be no inquest and an inquiry was not quite completed. However, he said information pointed to accidental circumstances.

Stephen, born in Montreal, had lived in Esquimalt since infancy. He was a bright student in Grade 9 at Esquimalt Junior High School.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 3.30 p.m. at McCall's funeral home, with burial at Royal Oak. Rev. J. A Roberts will officiate.

City Mail Men May Join 24-Hour Work Stoppage

Victoria postal employees probably would go along with a 24-hour work stoppage which may be ordered by the national headquarters of the Canadian Postal Employees Association.

Bob Coey, president of the Victoria Postal Employees Association, said last night the final decision on such a move would be made by a membership meeting.

"But I assume that would be the case," he said.

Possibility of a work stoppage by the postal clerks was indicated in Ottawa yesterday by Dan Cross, national president of the postal employees.

Prof. Herry V. Warren yesterday tossed a bombshell into the laps of hundreds of public health workers in Victoria when he suggested many of today's illnesses may stem from a form of lead poisoning created indirectly by automobiles.

Mr. Warren, professor of geology at UBC, made the suggestion in a speech on the relationship between geology and health to 300 employees of the B.C. health department at a four-day annual training course at the Empress Hotel.

Studies last year showed trees and plants growing beside highways have an abnormally high lead content, he said, placing the blame on tetraethyl lead additives used in gasolines.

A tree growing beside the Malahat, at a spot where drivers have to use more gas to climb a hill, was found to contain 100 times the normal amount of lead, and similar amounts were found in trees growing within 100 yards of the road through Stanley Park in Vancouver, he said.

Vegetables, fruit and cereals were also found to be absorbing lead, and the North American continent stands a chance of suffering from it, he said.

"This seems to be a pretty serious thing. Between 100,000 and 150,000 tons of lead are used each year on the North American continent in making tetraethyl lead gas additive. You can take it from there."

Geologists found the abnormal existence of lead in plant life bordering highways, but it is up to medical specialists to study the effects of these deposits on humans and animals, he said.

"It would seem obvious that the lead content of various foods should be further investigated," Mr. Warren said.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

VANCOUVER CANUCKS, who often claim a lot more than they get but get enough to do well enough, have suggested Jack McCartan, star of the winning U.S. Olympic hockey team, could be their goalkeeper next season. It's not likely. If McCartan does turn pro and fails to make the New York Rangers, he'd be more valuable to an American club than to a Canadian team. . . . One also hears that veteran-centre Sid Finney may wind up with Edmonton Flyers next season. . . . Also making the rumor round is the report that the annual Empress Golf Tournament was held for the last time this year. . . . Belated congratulations to Jim Wright, Bob Collins and John Piper, who carried on with skip Larry Marshall bonspieling in Chilliwack and won the men's championship at the Victoria Curling Club. . . . Jack Seedhouse, getting an early start on the season during a recent trip to Salt Spring Island, boated four small-mouth black bass averaging more than three pounds out of St. Mary Lake. He used a Bomber plug. . . . Fred Madden, former manager of the Victoria Curling Club and more recently on the Memorial Arena staff, has accepted a job as rink manager at Chilliwack. . . . An interesting figure would be the amount which has been spent repairing those leaky pipes at Memorial Arena during the past few years. One source says it is in excess of $50,000, which would just about pay for the new floor which is so belatedly being installed. . . . And don't miss the Shrine Western Canada boxing championships on April 30 at the arena. This is undoubtedly the finest ring show presented here for many a year.

Whether or not Los Angeles, used to nothing but major league quality in sports, will support hockey at the Western Hockey League level is a moot question but a comment printed in the Los Angeles Times after the first game there between Vancouver Canucks and Victoria Cougars might be given some thought.

"Bill Nicholas, general-manager of the Coliseum and Sports Arena," the newspaper story said in part, "expressed himself as disappointed at the calibre of hockey produced by the two clubs."

Yes, Los Angeles may not be the pot of gold Jim Piggott thinks he'll find at the end of his rainbow.

Edmund Brown is the top politician of a state with two major league baseball clubs but the California governor proved to everyone last week that he isn't much of a fan.

Called on to speak at the dedication dinner for San Francisco's new Candlestick Park, Governor Brown looked pleasantly at the big crowd, smiled, opened his mouth, and then put his foot in it.

"I expect," he beamed in his best on-the-hustings manner, "that I will see all of you at the park next fall when the Giants and the Dodgers meet in the world series."

That's like a baseball fan saying he was going to vote the Nixon-Kennedy ticket in the presidential elections.

Horton Smith, perhaps golf's best in the mid-thirties, stands out in sports as a striking example of quiet courage.

Winner of the event in 1934 and again in 1936, Smith showed up at the Masters' golf tournament last month for the 24th time to keep intact his streak of having played in every Masters tournament. But, outside of a casual mention of his streak, he was lost in the shuffle when an eight prevented him from escaping the 36-hole cut.

That he was there at all is the amazing part of the story. He learned almost three years ago—and three years is almost all the time left in such cases—that he was suffering from the dread Hodgkins disease. One lung was removed about 18 months ago and the other is seriously infected but no one would suspect it as he carries on as pro at the Detroit Golf Club and keeps alive his attendance record at the Masters.

WESTERN HOCKEY LEAGUE clubs certainly haven't been making much out of the playdowns in the past two seasons. The player pool draws 50 per cent of proceeds from the minimum number of games it takes to decide each series, and there have been only three extra games in the eight separate series played in two seasons. . . . San Francisco's spanking-new Candlestick Park has 63 de luxe mezzanine boxes of eight seats each which retail for $4,000 a box for the season—about $6.50 per game per seat—but all of them have been sold. . . . According to a compilation made by Reader's Digest, 166 boxers have died as a result of ring injuries since Second World War. . . . Wrong information led to an erroneous statement regarding the Rounsfell Cup, awarded each year for the B.C. rugger championship. James Bay Athletic Association, Bert Buller informs, won the trophy three years in a row—in 1939 and 1940 and again in the first post-war competition. . . . A clipping showing a picture of a handsome young man named Steve Dunc, Jr., with lines stating that he is co-captain and a three-year letterman on the varsity baseball team at Eugene, Ore., and also a member of the basketball team makes one realize how time does fly. He is, of course, the son of Steve Dunc, the lanky and popular, and good, too, outfielder who played here during the war years and before. . . . Don't be too certain that Cleveland isn't going to get the best of the trade which brought them batting-champion Harvey Kuenn in exchange for home run-hitter Rocky Colavito. But Frankie Lane could rue the day he sent Herb Score to a pennant contender

Cleveland fans hung out a banner to honor their old favorite, who was forced to show up yesterday in Detroit uniform after controversial trade but it didn't make any difference to ex-teammate Jim Piersall. The uninhibited Piersall gives Colavito donkey sign as he misses catch of Russ Nixon's off-the-fence double. But Colavito laughed last, Tigers beating old teammates, 4-2, in 15-inning thriller.—(AP Photofax.)

Intermediate Hockey Won by Fort Frances

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP) —Fort Frances Canadians captured the Western Canada intermediate hockey championship Tuesday night with a 5-2 victory over Nanaimo Labatts before a crowd of about 1,800.

Unhurried Finnish Farmer Had Time for the Milking

A farmer from Finland, running like a scared spring calf, won the 64th annual Boston marathon in near record time yesterday.

Paavo (of course) Kotila, 32, passed the finish line strong and smiling just two hours, 20 minutes and 54 seconds after he had started the 26 miles, 385-yard run.

His time was but 49 seconds off the record established in 1957 by Johnny Kelley, and everyone agreed that Kotila would have broken it had he been pushed. He was far in front at the finish, two United States entrants, Gordie McKenzie of New York and Jimmy Green of Boston, finishing second and third, respectively, but never close enough during the last six miles to have a chance unless Kotila collapsed.

With the lack of competition making it a dull race, Chris McKenzie, an English girl and a runner in her own right, livened things up at one stage. She threw off her spiked heels and dashed along after her husband yelling encouragement almost in tears.

Billy Smith of Hamilton did the best among the Canadian entrants, placing 11th but almost 14 minutes behind the winner.

LORNE MAIN, former Vancouver ace, was named captain of Canada's Davis Cup tennis team yesterday, for the third time in a row. Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Don Fontana of Toronto, Val Harit of Montreal and southpaw Francois Godbout of Waterloo, Que., were named as playing members of the team . . . a small private plane taking Bob Feller to a speaking engagement crash-landed at a Chicago airfield yesterday, but the former major-league pitching star was unhurt. . . . Chicago White Sox yesterday lopped four players off their roster. Infielder Chico Carresquel was given his release and outfielder Harry Simpson, catcher Camilo Carreon and pitcher Rodolfo Arias were sent to San Diego Padres of the Coast league . . . Calgary Stampeders have signed Earl Lursford, their hard-hitting fullback, for another WIFU season . . . Frank Bathgate of Chatham Maroons, Eastern Allan Cup finalists, has been suspended for one game for hitting Gilles Lacelle of Hull with his stick during the Eastern final.

No Socky from Rocky But Tigers Still Win

Chicago White Sox, surprise 1959 champions, continued their habit of winning one-run games and New York Yankees, intent on a comeback, flashed their old power but main interest yesterday as the American League started a full schedule, was centred on Cleveland.

There, 52,756 fans, largest crowd of the day, came out to see what would happen with ex-Cleveland favorite, Rocky Colavito, playing for Detroit and Harvey Kuenn, league batting champion, playing for Cleveland.

And the noisy fans got their money's worth as general-manager Frank Lane got a bit of an edge in favor of the controversial trade although the Indians were beaten, 4-2, in a 15-inning thriller.

FOUR Ks

Colavito went hitless in six time at bat and struck out four times while Kuenn had two hits in seven trips for the Tigers.

But Lane didn't escape unscathed. Veteran Minnie Minoso, another favorite he traded away in the off-season, was a spectacular star in the 10-9 win the White Sox squeezed out over Kansas City Athletics.

Minoso, batting in six runs, broke the game up with a ninth-inning home run after hitting a grand-slam homer in the fourth. Largest opening-day crowd in Comiskey Park history—41,661 — cheered like mad for an old favorite.

Led by Roger Maris, an expensive acquisition from Kansas City, and Bill Skowron, their injury-prone first-baseman currently in the best of health, the Yankees pounded out 17 hits in knocking off the Red Sox, 8-4, before 32,747 Boston fans.

FOR DISTANCE

Maris had four hits, including two 400-foot home runs, and batted in four runs. And Skowron, a batting-championship threat if he could stay healthy, also came up with four hits. Sophomore Jim Coates, 6-1 last season, pitched the distance for the Yanks.

One of the nine hits off Coates was the second home run in two days for Ted Williams. It was the 494th of his career, putting him fourth on the all-time list of major league homer-hitters.

Back to Cleveland, it was a scoreless pitching battle between the Tigers' Frank Lary and the Indians' Gary Bell for 10 innings. Then pinch-hitter Neil Chisley singled in two runs for the Tigers in the 11th and pinch-hitter Jim Piersall did the same for the Indians in their half of the 11th.

Al Kaline finally won it for Detroit in the 15th with another two-run single.

Old standby Gene Woodling doubled in the winning run as Baltimore Orioles opened their season before 32,747 hometown fans with a 3-2 win over Washington Senators.

In the National League, Los Angeles Dodgers broke a tie for the lead by shutting out the San Francisco Giants, 4-0, in San Francisco.

The Giants got fine pitching from Billy O'Dell but they gave their southpaw acquisition from the American League no batting support and some shoddy defensive play.

It was 1-0 for the Dodgers starting the ninth inning with O'Dell hooked up with Johnny Podres in a fine mound battle, and only because right-fielder Willie Kirkland overran a single to play it into a triple. It resulted in the winning run when Tom Davis followed with a sacrifice fly. The Dodgers got three more runs in the ninth after O'Dell was taken out for a pinch-hitter.

St. Louis Cardinals finally won after losing their first five, besting Chicago Cubs, 5-2, behind Wilmer Mizell's fine pitching.

Cleveland Fan Dry, Suspicious

CLEVELAND—Out on St. Clair Avenue yesterday they hanged general-manager Frank Lane in effigy and laid out a likeness of manager Joe Gordon on a slab.

This was the way the habituees of Pointview Grill showed their feelings about the Colavito-Kuenn trade but it was a man in Pat Joyce's tavern who best expressed it all.

Upset because there was no beer on sale at Cleveland Stadium for the American League opener—the licence won't be available until April 28—he moaned disgustedly:

"No Rocky, no score, no beer, no nothin'. This guy Lane probably traded the beer licence."

Wolves Add Point From Lucky Draw

LONDON (AP) — Wolverhampton Wanderers grabbed a lucky scoreless tie against Nottingham Forest Tuesday and moved into a three-point lead at the top of the English Soccer League First Division as the season neared its pay-off stage.

Jim Iley, Nottingham halfback, let Wolves off the hook. He hit the crossbar with a penalty kick and the Wolves scrambled the ball away.

Now Wolves have 52 points —three more than second-place Tottenham Hotspur. Both teams have two more games to play.

Burnley, third place also with 49 points, has four remaining games. Burnley is third because of an inferior goal average to Tottenham.

The Tottenham-Wolverhampton match at Wolverhampton's Molineux ground Saturday could be the one to decide the championship.

Lassies Label Cerutty Loony

By J. C. Graham

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — Famous Australian track coach Perty Cerutty has raised a storm here by his claim that there is no place for women in the hard sphere of Olympic Games contests.

Sport for women, he says, should be conducted as it was in the Victorian age.

Cerutty, controversial coach of many world record breakers, has extreme ideas of training for athletes. He teaches them to think of themselves in jungle conditions and to compete, fangs bared, every faculty strained in a fight for survival.

He is credited with producing such miracle racers as Herb Elliott, who ran the mile in three minutes, 54.5 seconds.

STAY AWAY

But he warns women away from his training camp. He says the regime he demands would mean their surrendering femininity and becoming masculine.

"Having women running, jumping and throwing was all right when sport was truly amateur and largely the province of schoolgirls," Cerutty says. "It was the same with women in tennis in Queen Victoria's day. They weren't taken seriously and nobody minded.

"But sport today is on new levels. Men train and condition themselves in strength and ferocity. All these things are detrimental to women. They can't hope to keep up without surrendering their sex."

Distaff athletes in Australia and New Zealand challenge Cerutty's claim. Some agree women should set a limit to their effort, but others dismiss Cerutty's theories completely.

MUSCLE AND GLAMOR

New Zealand track and field administrators and coaches point out that two of the greatest Australian women runners, who have just been touring New Zealand, are particularly feminine and glamorous.

They are Betty Cuthbert, triple Olympic gold medal winner, and Mrs. Marlene Mathews-Willard, multiple breaker of world sprint records.

Neither is impressed by Cerutty's warnings. Said Betty Cuthbert:

"Mr. Cerutty is being old-fashioned. Times have changed since girls were barred from doing anything. I think he just hasn't got used to the idea."

Mrs. Mathews-Willard declared:

"I don't know what Cerutty has against us. Just see how many women athletes are married—and they certainly are feminine. He must be a woman hater."

This charge 65-year-old Cerutty indignantly denies. "I'm no woman hater, I love 'em," he says. "But they must be womanly. I've never wanted to cuddle a weight-lifting amazon yet."

Middle of Quamichan Lake

His Islet Is Growing

NORTH COWICHAN — Engineering studies just starting into the draining of some Quamichan Lake land may result in suddenly enlarging an island here that didn't exist about 80 years ago.

Some residents on the north side of the lake, mostly farmers, want the outlet widened and a lock installed to keep the water level lower during runoffs.

Owner of the island is John Sandys-Wunsch, a former Rhodes scholar now studying in Strasbourg, France.

First settlers in the area have reported that when they used to row across the lake there was only a small outcropping of rocks showing during the hot months.

Now there is a marshy island of about three-quarters of an acre. It isn't shown on many maps. Residents in the area can't remember the time when it wasn't there, although some say it was much smaller years ago.

"It is of rock, but at high water one can't walk over it without wading boots," said the owner's father, Lt.-Col. T. V. Sandys-Wunsch.

John Sandys-Wunsch bought the island from the Canadian Pacific Railroad for $50 in 1948. He was then a Scout, working for his warden's badge.

"He intended making it into a bird sanctuary, but the government couldn't seem to do it," his father explained yesterday. "That is what it would be good for. Bird life is being depleted rapidly."

Photographer Alfred Flett, descendant of one of the original settlers near Quamichan Lake, said his father remarked several times that there was no island when he first arrived.

But Col. Sandys-Wunsch wasn't excited at the prospect of his son's property growing.

"He paid $50 for it originally. Since then he has been paying $2.50 a year in municipal taxes. They even tried to collect protection taxes, but I put a stop to that," he said.

New Duties

Appointed assistant adjutant and quartermaster - general at Manitoba area army headquarters is Lt.-Col. V. R. Schjelderup, DSO, MC, CD, son of V. Schjelderup of Courtenay. He is currently commander of 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, at Edmonton.

Godbout on the St. Lawrence River 225 miles below Quebec had a trading post some years before 1670.

Fire Destroys Home

ALBERNI—A frame house in the McCoy Lake area, four miles west of Alberni, burned to the ground at midnight Monday.

The two-bedroom house on Great Central Road was flattened within an hour of the time when a nearby resident first saw the flames at 12.45 and reported to RCMP in Alberni.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Davison of Davison's Store, east of the burned building, are owners of the property. According to reports, the building had been unoccupied for a short period and new tenants were scheduled to move in on Tuesday.

Big Truck Plunges

TOFINO — A 15-ton gravel truck slipped from a barge as it was being put aboard and plunged into deep water yesterday.

Diving operations will be necessary to salvage the truck, which was being transported to Knott Brothers Logging Co. camp at Catface.

The deepest spot recorded in any ocean is 36,198 feet in the Marianas in the Pacific, surveyed by a Soviet vessel in 1959.

Five Per Cent Jump

Albernis Greet Bigger Grants

PORT ALBERNI—The provincial government will contribute 26.38 per cent of Alberni district school costs this year as compared to 21.42 per cent in 1959.

School board secretary-treasurer A. F. Taylor Tuesday received information that the provincial grants in 1960 will amount to $395,946 of the year's estimated budget of $1,501,067.

While school mill rates in the Twin Cities will show an increase with the adoption of the largest budget in the district's history, the increase in each case is considerably less than anticipated when provisional budgets were drawn up.

Port Alberni city treasurer H. Dennis Thain said the rate for school purposes would climb 1.03 mills above last year's rate of 16.672.

In Alberni, treasurer James Sawyer reported an increase of .64 mills over last year's 17.33.

TO PAY $77,996

Alberni will pay $77,996 of the total budget or 7.08 per cent, based on the 1960 assessment of $4,407,212. Port Alberni's 76.02 per cent share, $837,063, is based on an assessment of $47,287,918.

Balance of the school costs in the area will be made up of the rural areas' $134,546 contribution based on rural assessments of $10,512,139, $35,516 from miscellaneous revenue and the government grant.

Not All the $50 Will Vanish

DUNCAN — Taxpayers here will pay more this year although it will not take all of the increase received in the $50 homeowner grant.

The average taxpayer, with a moderately priced home and property, will find his tax notice will range from $10 to $15 more.

Clerk Gordon Berry released the figures yesterday while revising the annual budget after the government grant towards education costs dropped the expected increase from three to two mills.

RECORD BUDGET

It sets a record budget of $419,240 (not including water works), which is about $11,000 more than last year.

Mr. Berry said a bylaw is being prepared and will receive its first two readings probably at a council meeting Monday if it is ready.

He said work is being rushed on the bylaw so that tax notices can be sent out to give plenty of time to pay before the July 2 deadline.

TWO-MILL RISE

The budget increases two mills to 42 mills. It is set at:

General rate, 18.9; debt rate, 4.50, and schools 18.39. Last year's figures were: General, 19.95; debt, 4.58, school, 16.47.

Per capita government grants are expected to be $51,952. Largest single expenditure will be $102,290 for schools and education.

No 'Sting' In Nanaimo

NANAIMO (CP) — Provincial government grants to Nanaimo school district have taken most of the sting out of increased school costs this year and Nanaimo's tax rate will increase only slightly for schools, figures released by city hall showed Tuesday. The increase in Nanaimo's school rate over last year will be only .89 of one mill.

IT BEATS ME

VANCOUVER CANUCKS, who often claim a lot more than they get but get enough to do well enough, have suggested Jack McCartan, star of the winning U.S. Olympic hockey team, could be their goalkeeper next season. It's not likely. If McCartan does turn pro and fails to make the New York Rangers, he'd be more valuable to an American club than to a Canadian team. . . . One also hears that veteran-centre Sid Finney may wind up with Edmonton Flyers next season. . . . Also making the rumor round is the report that the annual Empress Golf Tournament was held for the last time this year. . . . Belated congratulations to Jim Wright, Bob Collins and John Piper, who carried on with skip Larry Marshall bonspieling in Chilliwack and won the men's championship at the Victoria Curling Club. . . . Jack Seedhouse, getting an early start on the season during a recent trip to Salt Spring Island, boated four small-mouth black bass averaging more than three pounds out of St. Mary Lake. He used a Bomber plug. . . . Fred Madden, former manager of the Victoria Curling Club and more recently on the Memorial Arena staff, has accepted a job as rink manager at Chilliwack. . . . An interesting figure would be the amount which has been spent repairing those leaky pipes at Memorial Arena during the past few years. One source says it is in excess of $50,000, which would just about pay for the new floor which is so belatedly being installed. . . . And don't miss the Shrine Western Canada boxing championships on April 30 at the arena. This is undoubtedly the finest ring show presented here for many a year.

Whether or not Los Angeles, used to nothing but major league quality in sports, will support hockey at the Western Hockey League level is a moot question but a comment printed in the Los Angeles Times after the first game there between Vancouver Canucks and Victoria Cougars might be given some thought.

"Bill Nicholas, general-manager of the Coliseum and Sports Arena," the newspaper story said in part, "expressed himself as disappointed at the calibre of hockey produced by the two clubs."

Yes, Los Angeles may not be the pot of gold Jim Piggott thinks he'll find at the end of his rainbow.

Edmund Brown is the top politician of a state with two major league baseball clubs but the California governor proved to everyone last week that he isn't much of a fan.

Called on to speak at the dedication dinner for San Francisco's new Candlestick Park, Governor Brown looked pleasantly at the big crowd, smiled, opened his mouth, and then put his foot in it.

"I expect," he beamed in his best on-the-hustings manner, "that I will see all of you at the park next fall when the Giants and the Dodgers meet in the world series."

That's like a baseball fan saying he was going to vote the Nixon-Kennedy ticket in the presidential elections.

Horton Smith, perhaps golf's best in the mid-thirties, stands out in sports as a striking example of quiet courage.

Winner of the event in 1934 and again in 1936, Smith showed up at the Masters' golf tournament last month for the 24th time to keep intact his streak of having played in every Masters tournament. But, outside of a casual mention of his streak, he was lost in the shuffle when an eight prevented him from escaping the 36-hole cut.

That he was there at all is the amazing part of the story. He learned almost three years ago—and three years is almost all the time left in such cases—that he was suffering from the dread Hodgkins disease. One lung was removed about 18 months ago and the other is seriously infected but no one would suspect it as he carries on as pro at the Detroit Golf Club and keeps alive his attendance record at the Masters.

WESTERN HOCKEY LEAGUE clubs certainly haven't been making much out of the playdowns in the past two seasons. The player pool draws 50 per cent of proceeds from the minimum number of games it takes to decide each series, and there have been only three extra games in the eight separate series played in two seasons. . . . San Francisco's spanking-new Candlestick Park has 63 de luxe mezzanine boxes of eight seats each which retail for $4,000 a box for the season—about $6.50 per game per seat—but all of them have been sold. . . . According to a compilation made by Reader's Digest, 166 boxers have died as a result of ring injuries since Second World War. . . . Wrong information led to an erroneous statement regarding the Rounsfell Cup, awarded each year for the B.C. rugger championship. James Bay Athletic Association, Bert Buller informs, won the trophy three years in a row—in 1939 and 1940 and again in the first post-war competition. . . . A clipping showing a picture of a handsome young man named Steve Dunc, Jr., with lines stating that he is co-captain and a three-year letterman on the varsity baseball team at Eugene, Ore., and also a member of the basketball team makes one realize how time does fly. He is, of course, the son of Steve Dunc, the lanky and popular, and good, too, outfielder who played here during the war years and before. . . . Don't be too certain that Cleveland isn't going to get the best of the trade which brought them batting-champion Harvey Kuenn in exchange for home run-hitter Rocky Colavito. But Frankie Lane could rue the day he sent Herb Score to a pennant contender

Cleveland fans hung out a banner to honor their old favorite, who was forced to show up yesterday in Detroit uniform after controversial trade but it didn't make any difference to ex-teammate Jim Piersall. The uninhibited Piersall gives Colavito donkey sign as he misses catch of Russ Nixon's off-the-fence double. But Colavito laughed last, Tigers beating old teammates, 4-2, in 15-inning thriller.—(AP Photofax.)

No Socky from Rocky But Tigers Still Win

Chicago White Sox, surprise 1959 champions, continued their habit of winning one-run games and New York Yankees, intent on a comeback, flashed their old power but main interest yesterday as the American League started a full schedule, was centred on Cleveland.

There, 52,756 fans, largest crowd of the day, came out to see what would happen with ex-Cleveland favorite, Rocky Colavito, playing for Detroit and Harvey Kuenn, league batting champion, playing for Cleveland.

NATIONAL LEAGUE	W	L	Pct.	GBL
Los Angeles	5	1	.833	—
Milwaukee	5	1	.750	1
San Francisco	4	2	.667	1
Pittsburgh	3	3	.500	2
Cincinnati	2	3	.400	2½
Philadelphia	2	3	.400	2½
Chicago	2	4	.333	3
St. Louis	1	5	.167	4

And the noisy fans got their money's worth as general-manager Frank Lane got a bit of an edge in favor of the controversial trade although the Indians were beaten, 4-2, in a 15-inning thriller.

FOUR Ks

Colavito went hitless in six time at bat and struck out four times while Kuenn had two hits in seven trips for the Tigers.

But Lane didn't escape unscathed. Veteran Minnie Minoso, another favorite he traded away in the off-season, was a spectacular star in the 10-9 win the White Sox squeezed out over Kansas City Athletics.

Minoso, batting in six runs, broke the game up with a ninth-inning home run after hitting a grand-slam homer in the fourth. Largest opening-day crowd in Comiskey Park history—41,661 — cheered like mad for an old favorite.

Led by Roger Maris, an expensive acquisition from Kansas City, and Bill Skowron, their injury-prone first-baseman currently in the best of health, the Yankees pounded out 17 hits in knocking off the Red Sox, 8-4, before 32,747 Boston fans.

FOR DISTANCE

Maris had four hits, including two 400-foot home runs, and batted in four runs. And Skowron, a batting-championship threat if he could stay healthy, also came up with four hits. Sophomore Jim Coates, 6-1 last season, pitched the distance for the Yanks.

One of the nine hits off Coates was the second home run in two days for Ted Williams. It was the 494th of his career, putting him fourth on the all-time list of major league homer-hitters.

Back to Cleveland, it was a scoreless pitching battle between the Tigers' Frank Lary and the Indians' Gary Bell for 10 innings. Then pinch-hitter Neil Chisley singled in two runs for the Tigers in the 11th and pinch-hitter Jim Piersall did the same for the Indians in their half of the 11th.

Al Kaline finally won it for Detroit in the 15th with another two-run single.

Old standby Gene Woodling doubled in the winning run as Baltimore Orioles opened their season before 32,747 home-town fans with a 3-2 win over Washington Senators.

In the National League, Los Angeles Dodgers broke a tie for the lead by shutting out the San Francisco Giants, 4-0, in San Francisco.

The Giants got fine pitching from Billy O'Dell but they gave their southpaw acquisition from the American League no batting support and some shoddy defensive play.

It was 1-0 for the Dodgers starting the ninth inning with O'Dell hooked up with Johnny Podres in a fine mound battle, and only because right-fielder Willie Kirkland overran a single to play it into a triple. It resulted in the winning run when Tom Davis followed with a sacrifice fly. The Dodgers got three more runs in the ninth after O'Dell was taken out for a pinch-hitter.

St. Louis Cardinals finally won after losing their first five, besting Chicago Cubs, 5-2, behind Wilmer Mizell's fine pitching.

Cleveland Fan Dry, Suspicious

CLEVELAND—Out on St. Clair Avenue yesterday they hanged general-manager Frank Lane in effigy and laid out a likeness of manager Joe Gordon on a slab.

This was the way the habituees of Pointview Grill showed their feelings about the Colavito-Kuenn trade but it was a man in Pat Joyce's tavern who best expressed it all.

Upset because there was no beer on sale at Cleveland Stadium for the American League opener—the licence won't be available until April 28—he moaned disgustedly:

"No Rocky, no score, no beer, no nothin'. This guy Lane probably traded the beer licence."

Wolves Add Point From Lucky Draw

LONDON (AP) — Wolverhampton Wanderers grabbed a lucky scoreless tie against Nottingham Forest Tuesday and moved into a three-point lead at the top of the English Soccer League First Division as the season neared its pay-off stage.

Jim Iley, Nottingham halfback, let Wolves off the hook. He hit the crossbar with a penalty kick and the Wolves scrambled the ball away.

Now Wolves have 52 points —three more than second-place Tottenham Hotspur. Both teams have two more games to play.

Burnley, third place also with 49 points, has four remaining games. Burnley is third because of an inferior goal average to Tottenham.

The Tottenham-Wolverhampton match at Wolverhampton's Molineux ground Saturday could be the one to decide the championship.

Speaking Briefly

Unhurried Finnish Farmer Had Time for the Milking

A farmer from Finland, running like a scared spring calf, won the 64th annual Boston marathon in near record time yesterday.

Paavo (of course) Kotila, 32, passed the finish line strong and smiling just two hours, 20 minutes and 54 seconds after he had started the 26 miles, 385-yard run.

His time was but 49 seconds off the record established in 1957 by Johnny Kelley, and everyone agreed that Kotila would have broken it had he been pushed. He was far in front at the finish, two United States entrants, Gordie McKenzie of New York and Jimmy Green of Boston, finishing second and third, respectively, but never close enough during the last six miles to have a chance unless Kotila collapsed.

With the lack of competition making it a dull race, Chris McKenzie, an English girl and a runner in her own right, livened things up at one stage. She threw off her spiked heels and dashed along after her husband yelling encouragement almost in tears.

Billy Smith of Hamilton did the best among the Canadian entrants, placing 11th but almost 14 minutes behind the winner.

LORNE MAIN, former Vancouver ace, was named captain of Canada's Davis Cup tennis team yesterday, for the third time in a row. Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Don Fontana of Toronto, Val Harit of Montreal and southpaw Francois Godbout of Waterloo, Que., were named as playing members of the team . . . a small private plane taking Bob Feller to a speaking engagement crash-landed at a Chicago airfield yesterday, but the former major-league pitching star was unhurt . . . Chicago White Sox yesterday lopped four players off their roster. Infielder Chico Carresquel was given his release and outfielder Harry Simpson, catcher Camilo Carreon and pitcher Rodolfo Arias were sent to San Diego Padres of the Coast league . . . Calgary Stampeders have signed Earl Lunsford, their hard-hitting fullback, for another WIFU season . . . Frank Bathgate of Chatham Maroons, Eastern Allan Cup finalists, has been suspended for one game for hitting Gilles Lacelle of Hull with his stick during the Eastern final.

Lassies Label Cerutty Loony

By J. C. Graham

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — Famous Australian track coach Perty Cerutty has raised a storm here by his claim that there is no place for women in the hard sphere of Olympic Games contests.

Sport for women, he says, should be conducted as it was in the Victorian age.

Cerutty, controversial coach of many world record breakers, has extreme ideas of training for athletes. He teaches them to think of themselves in jungle conditions and to compete, fangs bared, every faculty strained in a fight for survival.

He is credited with producing such miracle racers as Herb Elliott, who ran the mile in three minutes, 54.5 seconds.

STAY AWAY

But he warns women away from his training camp. He says the regime he demands would mean their surrendering femininity and becoming masculine.

"Having women running, jumping and throwing was all right when sport was truly amateur and largely the province of schoolgirls," Cerutty says. "It was the same with women in tennis in Queen Victoria's day. They weren't taken seriously and nobody minded.

"But sport today is on new levels. Men train and condition themselves in strength and ferocity. All these things are detrimental to women. They can't hope to keep up without surrendering their sex."

Distaff athletes in Australia and New Zealand challenge Cerutty's claim. Some agree women should set a limit to their effort, but others dismiss Cerutty's theories completely.

MUSCLE AND GLAMOR

New Zealand track and field administrators and coaches point out that two of the greatest Australian women runners, who have just been touring New Zealand, are particularly feminine and glamorous.

They are Betty Cuthbert, triple Olympic gold medal winner, and Mrs. Marlene Mathews-Willard, multiple breaker of world sprint records.

Neither is impressed by Cerutty's warnings. Said Betty Cuthbert:

"Mr. Cerutty is being old-fashioned. Times have changed since girls were barred from doing anything. I think he just hasn't got used to the idea."

Mrs. Mathews-Willard declared:

"I don't know what Cerutty has against us. Just see how many women athletes are married—and they certainly are feminine. He must be a woman hater."

This charge 65-year-old Cerutty indignantly denies. "I'm no woman hater, I love 'em," he says. "But they must be womanly. I've never wanted to cuddle a weight-lifting amazon yet."

Discount Selling 'Unfair to John Public' so Chamber Will Investigate

Last time a group of stores gave special discounts to federal government employees, public opinion soon stopped them, retail merchants' group of the Chamber of Commerce was told yesterday. The group decided a committee should look into 11 stores agreeing to give discounts of up to 20 per cent to members of the Vancouver Island branch of the National Defence Employees Association and their families.

"It's very unfair to John Public," said Roy Denny, group chairman.

A committee will also study the case of a newly opened "discount house" offering provincial employees membership cards at $1 entitling them to buy goods at "special prices."

Mr. Denny reported that investigation had showed a finance company was behind the operation, interest rates were above average, and some prices were higher than available elsewhere in town.

"Someone must think the civil servants are a bunch of dummies to fall for a gag like that," said Courtney Haddock.

The group will recommend to chamber directors that they press, as others in Canada are doing, for the plugging of a legal loophole which would allow special "shops" to be set up at the U.S. border to sell duty-free imports to departing tourists.

Fifties Birthday Party Open to All

Navy Entertains May 21

The navy will open the gates of Esquimalt dockyard to the public May 21 as it celebrates the 50th anniversary of its founding.

Ships and establishments will be opened to visitors.

On the evening before the big day, a jubilee ball will be held at HMCS Naden.

The RCN plans to play a big role in the annual Victoria Day parade through city streets on May 23, as it continues its birthday celebrations.

The anniversary officially falls on May 4—the date in 1910 on which royal assent was given to the Naval Service Act—but special activties are being held throughout most of the year at various centres across Canada.

Nationwide ceremonies commemorating the Battle of the Atlantic will be held Sunday, May 8.

Board Takes Over

Schooling Set For Retarded

Greater Victoria school board will take over education of a limited number of retarded children this September.

Trutsees last night decided to carry on operation of the classes in the present school for retarded youngsters at 1075 Joan Crescent.

TWO SHIFTS

Enroiment will be kept to a maximum of 30—all that the building will safely hold—but this number may be doubled by adopting morning and afternoon shifts.

Permanent quarters for retarded children's classes are to be considered as part of the board's new building program which it plans to put to a vote this December.

In other business, trustees:

● Decided complaints from city council regarding supplying of free exercise books and a pencil to each Grade 1 student starting in September resulted from a "misunderstanding." The program will cost $742.

● Agreed to make a joint study with Saanich council of possibility of locating school and park sites so many of the facilities get double use.

● Ruled that more than 300 students living in an area bounded by Blenkinsop on the west and Cedar Hill Cross Road on the south who will be entering Grades 7 and 8 this fall must attend the new Gordon Head Junior High School.

● Decided to ask permission of Victoria University Council for students living in Cadboro Bay and Ten-Mile Point sections to take a short-cut to the new school through the Gordon Head campus.

● Declared war on student "litterbugs" by suggesting teachers step up the educational campaign to prevent students "wandering around the streets" while eating their lunches.

Announcement the board would take over classes for retarded children followed months of negotiation with the Greater Victoria Retarded Children's Association.

PRE-SCHOOL

The association, it was indicated, will concentrate its efforts in future on training for pre-school and older retarded children.

Trustees appointed Harvey Mickelson, supervisor of mental health in local schools, to head the whole program of special education including classes for retarded children.

RECOMMENDED

The board also authorized hiring of three special teachers for the classes and recommended preference be given in filling two of the posts to teachers who are now teaching 27 retarded children in the school.

In the early stages, classes will be for local children only, but later some students from Sooke and Saanich may be included.

Built-In Summons

New 'Ticket' All-Inclusive

A "uniform" type of traffic ticket with a built-in summons, was announced yesterday by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

To get the one-ticket program started it has been launched in all unorganized areas of the province where the RCMP is the instrument of law and order.

And Mr. Bonner said yesterday he hopes that the rest of the province, municipalities included, will adopt the new form.

The new "ticket" is a perforated, four-part, serial-numbered, multi-choice, four-color, summons-included, universal form.

With adoption of the form the actual practice of writing may become a thing of the past with traffic policemen.

With a series of mere check marks in no less than 80 optional squares a constable will be able to record anything from a simple offence like speeding in a municipality to "disobeying traffic control device—yellow light—flashing at an intersection in the rain at night just missing an accident by coming close (or very close) to a pedestrian causing person to dodge in a built up industrial area by a playground on a four-lane divided highway."

Or, if the incident should defy the multi-choice "you-commit-it I'll-check-it-off" system, a small space is provided in which police can describe in their own words the type of truly rare act which is not actually covered on the form.

Unit cost of the new ticket could not be readily ascertained here yesterday but Mr. Bonner said he guessed they would run to "a few cents apiece."

He said municipalities have already indicated that they will adopt the new ticket.

Purpose of the universal ticket, he stated, is to provide uniform information to the motor vehicle branch and to eliminate "a great deal of clerical effort which used to be required in connection with traffic tickets."

Marine Drive Gets $56,000

A Capital Improvement District Commission project authorizing expenditure of $56,000 for improvement of a Saanich portion of Marine Drive was approved by the provincial cabinet yesterday.

The project is similar to previous ones involving widening and provision of parking areas along the scenic route which runs from Ogden Point in downtown Victoria to Cordova Bay.

The money will be spent on a 1¼-mile section of the coastal drive from the Oak Bay boundary at Hibben's Close.

Chamber

Sign Bylaw Asked

Retail merchants' group of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday called for a city sign bylaw which would prevent signs from detracting from Victoria's charm.

The group approved a report from a special committee which said, in part, that the sign companies should not have the right to inflict "unrestricted commercialism" on the population and that any loss in community income from restriction of signs probably would be offset by tourist traffic to a different and distinctive city.

LOSS OF REVENUE

The committee considered that sign company spokesmen's claims of prospective loss of revenue were "overestimated and emotional."

Sign company representatives earlier this year foresaw catastrophe for their industry when a draft bylaw was submitted to city public works committee which would have outlawed standard billboards after three years and imposed several other new restrictions.

DRAFT FILED

The works committee "filed" the draft and ordered a new one prepared in consultation with the industry.

The Chamber group also gave its support yesterday to Victoria's off-street parking and downtown improvement plan, which will come to a vote of business-district property-owners May 19.

Santa Sought Early —As Well As Late

Merchants are under public pressure to invite Santa Claus to town sooner as well as later, retail merchants' group of the Chamber of Commerce will inform the Victoria and District Parent-Teacher Council.

The council wrote to the Chamber expressing concern about the earliness of Christmas advertising, saying the arrival of Santa Claus and other factors contributing to over-excitement of children weeks before Christmas shouldn't be encouraged.

One of the merchants, however, said that Victoria stores had started Christmas advertising on the same day as others across the country for several years, and another said "a large part" of the public kept pressing for Santa Claus' arrival.

Hydro Monument For Port Hardy

Fifteenth anniversary of the publicly-owned B.C. Power Commission will be marked at Port Hardy on Saturday with the opening of a new generating station and unveiling of a monument.

A logging centre and headquarters for flying on northern Vancouver Island, Port Hardy will become the 251st B.C. community to be served by the B.C. Hydro since the crown utility company was created in 1945.

The monument, which embodies the actual flywheel of an early diesel engine similar to units which brought the first electricity to many B.C. communities, will be unveiled by Comox MLA Dan Campbell.

Port Hardy was previously supplied with power by logging companies and the department of transport.

The $500,000 B.C. Hydro system for the community will serve a total of 140 customers.

Small replicas of the Port Hardy monument will be presented to 62 employees of the BCPC who have been with the utility since it was formed.

Residential power consumption has increased 500 per cent in the 15-year history of the commission and average price of power has been cut from 5 cents a kilowatt hour to 2½ cents.

GANGES — Franciscus Munts, 83, died last week, leaving young orchards on Salt Spring Island as a memorial to his hobby of grafting.

A native of Amsterdam, Mr. Munts came to Canada in 1905, worked early years on railroads and later homesteaded in northern Saskatchewan.

He came to B.C. 29 years ago and eventually to Salt Spring.

He lived with the Cliff Lee family for 17 years and took a great interest in all neighborhood children, remembering to the last each birthday as it came along. Each child received a $2 bill on the special date.

Mr. Munts took up grafting as a hobby after he was 70 and gave many pruning and grafting demonstrations.

He was an active member of the Farmers' Institute and secretary of the CCF club.

Surviving are a sister in Holland, a nephew, H. Munts, in Ladysmith; a sister-in-law, Mrs. C. Lowe, Vancouver, and a niece, Mrs. A. Munts, Vancouver.

Clusters or Not

$17,500 Bill Certain For Wiring

Victoria must spend $17,500 this year to complete underground ducts for downtown street lighting whether cluster lights are to be retained or not, city council's public works committee was advised yesterday.

The committee suggested that finance committee should recommend where the money is to come from, although Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow noted that taking it from the reverted land sales fund would save the taxpayers money.

YET TO DECIDE

City council has yet to decide what changes will be made in the downtown lighting system when all wiring goes underground next year.

If the cluster lights are to be retained, lighting superintendent Kenneth Reid has reported, total expenditure will have to be from $282,985 to $313,225.

TWO SCHEMES

In addition to the "essential requirements" for retaining and preserving the cluster lights, first sum would provide mercury lighting on streets without clusters and combination light and traffic signal poles at signalled intersection.

Higher sum would provide a system of poles with cluster light brackets, mid-block supplementary lighting and transfer of surplus cluster standards to streets now without them.

Cowichan

River Yields Body

DUNCAN—The body of a Victoria astronomer was pulled from the Cowichan River yesterday morning nearly 24 hours after he died attempting to do what was once a popular pastime for daredevils here.

Joseph Daniel Francis, 24, of 3085 Colquitz, was pronounced dead on the spot by Cornoer Dr. Edgar Gee of Lake Cowichan, about four miles below where he and his brother had entered the river in a canoe.

SHALLOW STRETCH

The body was found at 10.35 a.m. by three searchers in a boat near a shallow stretch of water.

The doctor said last night there will be an inquiry into the incident, but that a full inquest was not needed. The body was released for burial.

Indians did a thriving business for almost 20 years shooting all but one section of rapids in the 20-mile-long river in dugout canoes for tourists.

TWO-HOUR SEARCH

Twelve civilians, on each side of the river and in a 24-foot river boat, searched for two hours in a light drizzle and poor visibility.

Boat owner Arthur Hancock, Robert Starter and Robert Grute, all of Lake Cowichan, sighted the body. They transported it down river a short distance where the boat was beached until the coroner and police arrived.

CLUNG TO PADDLE

Among the searchers were relations of the dead man and his surviving brother, Edwin, 35, who clung to a paddle that was tied to the 19-foot canoe after it had thrown them into the cold water and they went into a whirlpool.

Chuck Thorne, a former Cowichan Indian chief, said yesterday he had been "too scared" to take the trip with his father, William Thorne, who operated the ride until he died in 1942.

SHOT RIVER

Sometimes with as many as three or four passengers, William Thorne and a rear paddler, shot the winding and dangerous river five or six times a year.

The canoe was drifted down over Skutz Falls, he said, and then the passengers got in again about the place the two brothers started their trip Monday.

Rubber

Bandage Ordered For Pipe

All that sponge rubber doesn't mean a softer job for water board employees.

In an intriguing advertisement, the board has called for tenders to supply 2,500 square feet of quarter-inch sponge rubber "similar to the type used under carpeting."

But it won't be used under carpeting, Commissioner Ronald Upward explained yesterday. Strips of it, clamped tight, are used to bandage the water line from Sooke Lake to Goldstream.

From 250 to 300 of the line's 36,000 joints have to be bandaged every year, Mr. Upward said. A tunnel is scheduled to replace the leaking line in five years.

Until Disarmament—de Gaulle

More A-Arms French Target

OTTAWA (CP) — Control of missiles and aircraft should be the first step towards nuclear and general disarmament, President Charles de Gaulle of France said Tuesday.

Following the highlight speech of his 36-hour state visit to Ottawa, crowded into a busy schedule of official visits and ceremonies, Gen. de Gaulle said at a press conference that France would go on building atomic weapons until there is general agreement on their control.

OPTIMISTIC

He was optimistic that some accord would be reached at next month's summit conference, though not all the world's problems would be solved. He also urged countries, which have means to organize an international co-operative, to develop a long-range attack on the problems of the underdeveloped countries.

The French president's day started with an hour-long private conference with Prime Minister Diefenbaker at Government House, followed by an hour's conference with the full Canadian cabinet on Parliament Hill.

LAID WREATH

He visited the Parliament buildings and the Peace Tower memorial chamber, and laid a wreath at the national war memorial. He called at city hall, attended the government luncheon at the Chateau Laurier hotel, where he spoke, and gave a dinner and reception Tuesday night at the French embassy.

Gen. and Mme. de Gaulle, with Foreign Minister Couve de Murville, leave Ottawa today for Quebec City. They will be in Montreal and Toronto Thursday and Friday before flying to Washington.

NO NOTES

Gen. de Gaulle delivered his after-luncheon speech without notes, following almost verbatim a prepared text distributed in advance to the press. Because of poor eyesight, he memorizes most of his speeches.

France's prime objective, he said, is peace.

"Of course we realize that to organize it, we must travel a long and difficult road.

COUNTRY SATISFIED

"My country is satisfied with the approaching meeting of the summit, the heads of governments who are supremely responsible, those who are commonly called the Big Four.

"France believes that there should first be introduced among these four states, and

Frigid Welcome

Cool Nehru Chills Chou

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai Tuesday was greeted by a stern Jawaharlal Nehru, hostile demonstrations and a correct but cool welcome when he arrived to discuss disputed border questions.

The Chinese leader will be in India six days to discuss with the Indian prime minister their serious border quarrel. Nehru made a pointed reference in his welcoming speech to their strained relations.

About 100 demonstrators, members of the right wing Hindu Mahasabha party, tried to break through a police cordon and stage a protest at the presidential palace, where Chou is staying. They clashed with police, who drove them back.

As Chou stepped from his plane, Nehru appeared not to notice his outstretched hand and only shook it after photographers demanded it.

Only a few thousand persons gathered in groups along the route to the city and they were silent and undemonstrative.

Summit

Do Reds Want Pact?

LONDON (UPI) — Diplomatic dispatches report mounting indications in Moscow that Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev is anxious to reach some positive agreement with the Big Three western leaders at the summit conference in Paris next month.

Recent Soviet propaganda has led western observers in the Soviet capital to believe Khrushchev wants to avoid having the meeting labeled a failure. Khrushchev's own prestige was seen as heavily involved since he was the prime mover for the meeting of the heads of government of the Big Four.

In addition, Khrushchev was understood to want a second summit, which he apparently hoped to have in Moscow.

Mobs Take Over

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Defiant students and townspeople armed with guns, knives and clubs held mob control over northeastern Seoul today in the bloody, fiery Korean civilian revolt against alleged political corruption. Ruins of public buildings still smoked from mob-set fires.

President Syngman Rhee's government—now in its fourth four-year term — called troops into Seoul and proclaimed martial law here and in four other cities Tuesday night after clashes between police and 100,000 demonstrators challenging the result of recent elections. (See Page 10.)

The troops quickly cleared most streets in Seoul and other cities and restored an uneasy peace.

But in northeastern Seoul, hot-bed of resistance or Rhee's ruling liberal party, hundreds of demonstrators still roamed. Army tanks and truckloads of soldiers moved on that sector this morning.

Schoolboys were in the forefront of Tuesday's swirling battle where tear-gas fell thick and police rifles poured volley after volley into the ranks of the demonstrators.

The clashes, facing the tough-minded 85-year-old Rhee with his gravest crisis since the Korean war, were sparked by protests over alleged frauds and strongarm tactics in the March 15 presidential elections which Rhee's Liberal party won.

Censorship blanked out spaces in this morning's newspapers where casualty figures would have appeared.

Hanging Accident Kills Helpful Boy

By ERITH M. SMITH

His keen interest in Scouting, and his anxiety to help others with the same interests, led an Esquimalt boy indirectly to his death Monday afternoon.

Stephen Foster Pellow, 13, only son of CPO Francis A. and Mrs. Pellow, 537 Fraser, was found strangled in the Fraser Street Scout Hall, between 4 and 5 p.m., by his father and Scoutmaster David Kerridge.

Esquimalt police had no report to make. Chief Gilbert Stancombe could not be reached for comment. The boy's parents were too overcome to talk about it, and others with any direct knowledge of the death had been instructed to say nothing.

SKYLARKING

However, Reeve A. C. Wurtele, who had discussed the tragedy with Chief Stancombe, said death apparently was caused inadvertently while skylarking.

"The boy had been playing with some others, games in which a rope was involved," he said. "At the time of his death, however, he was alone, but it appears clear that skylarking led to his being strangled by the rope."

Stephen was an active member of 1st Esquimalt Boy Scout Troop. Taking advantage of Monday's semi-holiday, the troop planned a hike.

Mrs. E. Miller of Nanaimo, his grandmother, told the Colonist Stephen decided to remain behind in order to help another member of the troop with some proficiency qualifications.

WAS TYPICAL

"It was typical of him," she said. "He was always trying to help the others."

It is believed to have been some time after helping the other lad that Stephen met his death.

Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart said there would be no inquest and an inquiry was not quite completed. However, he said information pointed to accidental circumstances.

Stephen, born in Montreal, had lived in Esquimalt since infancy. He was a bright student in Grade 9 at Esquimalt Junior High School.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 3.30 p.m. at McCall's funeral home, with burial at Royal Oak. Rev. J. A Roberts will officiate.

Death Toll 123

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Christian Herter, in an unusual public rebuke, called on South Korea Tuesday to end what he called "repressive measures" against anti-government demonstrators.

"Unsuited to a free democracy," Herter said of the crackdown by South Korean troops and police.

Herter spoke out publicly after calling in South Korea's ambassador, Dr. You Chan Yang, to express the "profound and growing concern" of the U.S. government.

FIVE CITIES

Herter met with the ambassador in the wake of bloody riots in five Korean cities which had left at least 123 dead and more than 400 injured.

Herter warned that President Eisenhower may cancel his scheduled June 22 visit to South Korea unless the Syngman Rhee government halts its actions against political opposition.

BEATNIK-TYPE

Leaving Herter's office, Yang refused to acknowledge that his government was guilty of repressive measures.

Yang said Communist agents had incited high school and college students and a "beatnik-type mob" to riot. He said his government sought by non-violent methods to stop the rioting.

"But when the policemen were shot at what could they do but return the firing?" Yang asked.

City Mail Men May Join 24-Hour Work Stoppage

Victoria postal employees probably would go along with a 24-hour work stoppage which may be ordered by the national headquarters of the Canadian Postal Employees Association.

Bob Coey, president of the Victoria Postal Employees Association, said last night the final decision on such a move would be made by a membership meeting.

Possibility of a work stoppage by the postal clerks was indicated in Ottawa yesterday by Dan Cross, national president of the postal employees.

UBC Professor Warns

Prof. Herry V. Warren yesterday tossed a bombshell into the laps of hundreds of public health workers in Victoria when he suggested many of today's illnesses may stem from a form of lead poisoning created indirectly by automobiles.

Mr. Warren, professor of geology at UBC, made the suggestion in a speech on the relationship between geology and health to 300 employees of the B.C. health department at a four-day annual training course at the Empress Hotel.

Studies last year showed trees and plants growing beside highways have an abnormally high lead content, he said, placing the blame on tetraethyl lead additives used in gasolines.

A tree growing beside the Malahat, at a spot where drivers have to use more gas to climb a hill, was found to contain 100 times the normal amount of lead, and similar amounts were found in trees growing within 100 yards of the road through Stanley Park in Vancouver, he said.

Vegetables, fruit and cereals were also found to be absorbing lead, and the North American continent stands a chance of suffering from it, he said.

"This seems to be a pretty serious thing. Between 100,000 and 150,000 tons of lead are used each year on the North American continent in making tetraethyl lead gas additive. You can take it from there."

Geologists found the abnormal existence of lead in plant life bordering highways, but it is up to medical specialists to study the effects of these deposits on humans and animals, he said.

"It would seem obvious that the lead content of various foods should be further investigated," Mr. Warren said.

Traffic Toll Shocks MPs

LONDON (Reuters) — Shocked MPs Tuesday discussed ways to prevent a repetition of Britain's record toll of Easter road accidents — including stiffer penalties, speed limits and inspection.

At least 75 were killed and 1,500 injured during the four-day weekend.
